Peace Funds Used to Assist Repeal of Panama Canal Tolls Exemption.

IS BROUGHT OUT IN SENATE INQUIRY

Proceeds of Steel Trust Securities Aided Repeal Propaganda.

Washington, March 13.- Activities of Andrew Carnegie's endowment for international peace in favor of a repeal of the Panama tolls exemption was brought out before the senate lobby committee today in the testimony of James Brown Scott, secretary of the foundation. It was developed that the endowment expended thousands of dollars in a campaign of education.

Scott testifie dthat more than a million copies of a pamphlet urging repeal under date of March 15, 1913, were distributed. The endowment also distributed, Dr. Scott testified, 715,000 copies of Senator Root's speech urging the repeal.

Senator Walsh brought out that there was an allotment of $23,000 for circulation of Panama canal literature and that the 715,000 copies of Senator Root's speech had been sent out by the endowment under the senator's frank. Mr. Scott said the order of the executive committee directing this had been taken in Senator Root's absence.

As to a Peace Society.

"This is a peace society, isn't it?" demanded Senator Reed.

"It is," answered Scott.

"Just what has it to do then with Panama tolls questions?"

"His business is to smooth out misunderstandings."

"And yield to other nations?" asked Senator Reed.

"You will find no yielding to other nations in our attitude," Scott declared.

County Committee Will Be Reorganized at the Convention.

HERE ON MARCH 17

The prohibitionists of Allen county will meet in mass convention March 17 at the assembly room of the court house in response to a call just issued by County Chairman W. S. Hackett. At the morning session, beginning at 10:30 o'clock the party will be reorganized, delegates to the state convention selected and a county ticket nominated.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 o'clock and at that time the committeemen will be addressed by state officials of the party and Hon. Aaron S. Watkins, of Ohio. Mr. Watkins is one of the leading speakers within the ranks of the prohibition party. He has lectured in thirty-seven states, filled 100 return dates and has made 400 speeches in Illinois alone. He will also speak at the evening session.

Announcement of the prohibition chairman that his party will enter a ticket in the coming election, means that the voters will have five sets of candidates to consider, the democratic, progressive, republican, socialist and prohibition.

REAL DUEL IN THE MOVIES

Two Parisians Go to It With Swords While Picture Mills Work.

WIVES LISTEN TO CLASHING SWORDS

Combat in Which Blood is Spilt Sprang from Feud of the Wives.

Paris, March 13.—A sword duel fought today between Jeeques Richebin, son of Richebin, the "immortal," and Pierre Frondaie, author of a play now being performed in Paris, resulted in the wounding of M. Frondaie.

The quarrel arose out of an incident in the lobby of a theater on Wednesday. Madame Frondaie it is alleged, made some cutting remarks to Jacques Richebin's wife, known as Madame Cora La Parcerie who is co-manager of the theater.

M. Frondaie took full responsibility for his wife's comments and was thereupon challenged to fight M. Richebin. The encounter took place on the lawn of a house in the suburb of Neuilly. More than a hundred notable literary and dramatic men watched the combat from behind hedges and windows while numerous reporters, photographers and moving picture operators occupied a loft overlooking the lawn.

The wives of both principals appeared on the scene but were not allowed to watch the combat. They remained on the road outside in their automobiles, where they were surrounded by crowds of women friends. They could hear the sounds of the clashing of swords from where they sat.

During the first bout neither combatant was touched. In the second, however, M. Richebin's sword penetrated M. Frondaie's forearm and the engagement and his wife threw herself into his arms, while Madame Frondaie helped the surgeon to dress her husband's wound.

Jean Richebin then embraced his son was brought to an end.

MISS WILSON TO WED MR. M'ADOO

Engagement of President's Daughter to Secretary of Treasury.

NEWS WAS EXPECTED

Washington, March 13.—Formal announcement of the engagement of Secretary McAdoo and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the president and Mrs. Wilson, was expected to be made today at the whitehouse.

Persons in a position to know said confirmation of reports of the engagement had been decided upon by the Wilson family although it had not been intended to make announcement at such an early date. Publication, however, in many newspapers today of the prospective marriage influenced the decision at the white house.

Rumors were about that with the marriage of Mr. McAdoo and Miss Wilson, which is expected to take place in June, the secretary would resign from the cabinet as secretary of the treasury and be appointed ambassador to France, but white house officials said such reports were without foundation.

Inventor, Who Died Leaving $50,000,000, Provided for Continuation.

LAID ALL THE PLANS

New York, March 13.—George Westinghouse, the famous engineer and inventor who died at his residence here yesterday of heart disease, provided in his will for the continuation of his large business interests under a trusteeship. It was officially stated today that his death will not cause any change of policy or operation in connection with any of the Westinghouse industries. A plan which long ago he carefully thought out for their continuance and direction goes into effect. The men chosen to carry out this work are his brother, Henry Herman Westinghouse, who is president of the American Brake company, vice president and general manager of the Westinghouse Air Brake company; Charles A. Terry, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric company; W. D. Updegraffe, director of the Westinghouse Air Brake company.

To this trusteeship will go the voting power in all the corporations in which George Westinghouse was interested here and abroad. The individual wealth and holdings of Mr. Westinghouse have been estimated at more than $50,000,000.

WAITS NINE YEARS; SHE GROWS TIRED

Woman Whose Husband Has Long Been Ill and Does Not Improve Divorces.

EACH IS WEALTHY

San Francisco, March 13.—Waiting nine years for her husband to demonstrate some sign of recovery, Mrs. Adelaide Murphy Breckenridge, wife of John C. Breckenridge, now in a Paris sanitarium, obtained annulment of her marriage at Salinas, Cal., last Monday. News of her action was learned here today. Attorneys for Mrs. Breckenridge laid before the court affidavits from French alienists that her husband's mind was beyond hope of recovery. She was awarded the custody of their 9-year-old son.

The elopement of the couple created a stir in San Francisco society ten years ago. Mrs. Breckenridge was the daughter of Samuel C. Murphy, a millionaire banker of this city, and her husband the son of Mrs. Frederick Sharon, by a former marriage. His eccentricity is said to have developed during the honeymoon, and a trip around the world failed to restore his health. In Paris he was seized with an attack of vertigo and fell from the second story of a hotel. He has been an inmate of a hospital ever since.

AMBASSADOR PAGE RAKED

Bryan Transmits to Him the Senate's Demand for Explanation.

CONDENSER HIT WORD TOO HARD

Plenipotentiary at Court of St. James Intimates He Was Only Kidding.

London, March 13.—Ambassador Walter Hines Page today received from Secretary of State Bryan notification of the resolution of the United States in regard to his speech on the Panama canal and the Monroe doctrine delivered before the chamber of commerce on Wednesday. The secretary of state requested the ambassador to cable an explanation of the speech and Mr. Page immediately began the preparation of his reply. After reading fuller accounts of the proceedings in the senate Ambassador Page came to the conclusion that the senators had been misled by the excessive condensation of his remarks in regard to his interpretation of the Monroe doctrine.

Mr. Page declared that he had distinctly said that the United States would object to or prohibit any European power from taking more territory in the new world and then in concluding had said amid the laughter of the audience: "So you see that the United States would prefer that no European powers should gain more territory in the new world."

The ambassador's remarks, he declared, had been too greatly condensed. When referring to the Panama canal, he had said that Great Britain would profit most from the canal because she owned the great bulk of the world's shipping.

NOT TO BE JOKED ABOUT.

Washington, March 13.—Senator Chamberlain, author of the resolution calling for an explanation of Ambassador Page's speech, said today he was gratified to learn that Secretary Bryan had acted upon the senate's request. "I see the ambassador says he was joking. Well, it strikes me that Ambassadors of this government should not joke about matters which President Wilson said in his message might provoke war," said he.

PICK GOAT FOR GENERAL VILLA

About Settled That Major Rudolfo Fierro Slew W. S. Benton.

HELD BY CARRANZA

El Paso, Tex., March 13. Unconfirmed reports received here from Americans arriving from Chihuahua that the commission appointed by Gen. Carranza had caused the arrest of Major Rudolfo Fierro, one of Gen. Villa's subordinate officers, as the slayer of William S. Benton, a British subject, were given credence today by those interested in the case. The reports stated that Major Fierro is being held on a blind charge for the killing of two Mexican railroad men in a resort at Chihuahua.

At the time of Benton's execution, it was reported, Fierro was in Gen. Villa's office, said to have been the scene of the execution. It is known that the Carranza commission began its investigation with information that Benton had been killed by Fierro.

The commission is said to have gathered evidence that Col. Fidel Avila, a commander of the rebel garrison at Juarez, ordered the execution of Gustav Bauch, a German-American, who was tried a sa spy but in whose case no verdict was rendered. Denials that Bauch was killed have been made repeatedly by rebel officers at Juarez and at Chihuahua. Bauch was not executed until two days after Gen. Villa had left Juarez, it is said.

It is not known whether Avila had orders for the killing, but the commission is said to have evidence indicating that he directly ordered the execution of the German-American. Developments connecting Fierro with the Benton case have been looked for since Monday, when the major was removed as a general manager of the rebel railroad. Many had looked for Fierro's disappearance or apparently accidental death.

MEXICAN FEDS WANT OUT.

San Antonio, Texas, March 13.—Formal application for a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Gen. Mercado, Mexican commander, and 3,600 Mexican federal troops held at Fort Bliss was filed in federal court here today.

The hearing probably will be held at Houston tomorrow before United States Judge W. T. Burns. The application questions the right of the United States to hold the Mexican troops and demands their unconditional release.

Cook Lady Passes Herself Off as Rich Woman of San Francisco.

EXPOSED BY SUICIDE

Phoenix, Ari., March 13.- Dividing her time between cooking at a fashionable apartment house, giving luncheons at a leading hotel on her afternoons off and trying to buy a music school, a woman who asserted she was Mme. Arriola, wife of a prominent San Francisco musician, ended several weeks of deception here by committing suicide. Instead of being Mme. Arriola herself she was a former cook in that family, according to the police, who say that a young woman from San Francisco recognized her about the time papers had been drawn for her purchase of the Arizona school of music.

In a dying statement she told the police her maiden name was Lillian May Birchel and that she came from a wealthy Pittsburg family. She swallowed poison last night while at a party and died at a hospital.

On taking a position as cook here it is said she represented herself to outsiders as a chaperon for a party of young women. The police say the San Francisco woman who recognized the masquerader as the former Arriola servant told them of a similar adventure in San Francisco. According to this story the dead woman posed as Mme. Arriola when her mistress was out of the city and in company with other servants gave a dinner at one of the leading hotels there.

freight train was shot through the leg. Two robbers were captured.

Surprised Car Robbers.

The shooting occurred about 4 o'clock this morning. The conductor and the brakeman of a freight train on the Northwestern railroad surprised the robbers while they were pitching merchandise out of a train near Manlius. The train was stopped and the men jumped from the freight cars. They ordered the conductor and brakeman back into the caboose and demanded that Engineer Fisher detach the engine from the train and proceed down the track. He wavered in meeting the request and was shot through the head. He died instantly. The fireman was shot through the leg.

Posse Takes Up Chase.

The station agent at Manlius telegraphed Princeton and Langley, a small station near Manlius, for help. In an hour nearly 200 men were scouring the woods for the holdup men. Near Sheffield, Ill., the posse came up with the robbers who opened fire and Bert Skoglund, deputy sheriff of Bureau county, was shot through the face, shoulder and throat. He is believed to be fatally hurt. Leslie Boy, son of the sheriff of Bureau county, was shot in the leg. The wound is not serious. Two robbers were wounded by members of the posse. Two bandits are still at liberty.

One of the thieves was found seriously hurt by a bullet in his abdomen. He way lying on the railroad track files out of Sheffield, Ill., and was taken to a hospital in Spring Valley. Blood hounds were sent from various cities to assist in the search for the remaining desperado.

WESTINGHOUSE BUSINESS GOES

He was in his sixty-eighth year. Funeral services will take place at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church on Saturday and the burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery.

Mr. Westinghouse became an inventor at the age of 15 when he produced a rotary engine. Four years later he constructed a device for replacing derailed steam cars. Then, when 21 years old, he sought the financial backing of the late Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt for his now famous airbrake, perfected after three years of labor.

"Do you mean to tell me you can stop a railroad train by wind?" demanded the commodore.

"Well, yes; inasmuch as air is wind, I suppose you are right," spoke the youth.

"I have no time to waste on fools," said the commodore, thus abruptly terminating the interview.

Westinghouse sought and found capital elsewhere, manufactured his invention, and made high speed possible on railroads, revolutionizing traffic systems and inaugurating a notable era of railway development.

Mr. Westinghouse did not confine his genius to railroading. For half a century he continued to make other contributions to electrical as well as engineering advancement. His inventions and improvements had to do with railway signalling; the development of the alternating current system for electric lighting and power; devices for safety and for economically conveying natural gas over long distances and using it for industrial and domestic fuel; air springs for motor vehicles for all kinds, and a geared turbine system for the propulsion of ships, developed in collaboration with the late Admiral George W. Melville, U. S. N., and John H. MacAlpine.

HONOR THE DEAD MASTER.

Pittsburg, March 13.—Twenty-five thousand men are idle today in the Turtle Creek Valley out of respect to the late George Westinghouse. He was a factor in the industries of that section which were today ordered closed until after Mr. Westinghouse's funeral.

SENTENCED MAN TRIES TO MURDER

GASHES OWN THROAT

Terre Haute, Ind., March 13. Louis Stupor, who was sentenced Wednesday to life imprisonment for the murder of a fellow Servian at Shirkieville, cut the throat of William Jacobs in the county jail about noon today and then attempted suicide by cutting his own throat. The attempt was made with a razor which it is believed was given him the other day when he had a conference with a number of his countrymen.

The affray resulted from a dispute over a piece of soap. It is thought Stupor's injuries will prove fatal. Jacobs is awaiting trial for murder in the first degree.

CAREGIE'S COIN HELPS

The pamphlet issued by the society under date of March 15 last appealed as follows:

"The greatest interest of the United States as a free nation is to represent worthily before the world the principles of civil and religious liberty and the public efficiency and well being which those principles develop and thereby to promote the adoption of these principles the world over.

"This is of great material as well as a great moral interest. In comparison with this large interest, the interest of the United States in its coastwise vessels sinks into insignificance.

Was a Glorious Privilege.

"By securing the repeal of that part of the act of congress on the Panama canal which provided for the exemption of the coastwise vessels from the payment of tolls the American people would embrace a precious opportunity to prove that they understood their highest interests and recognize their duty to promote them for the benefit of mankind."

It was the circulation of the pamphlet to which Senator O'Gorman had reference in part when he made his recent attack in the senate upon the Carnegie endowment.

Dr. Scott was excused by the committee with the assurance from him that he would be at their service at any time.

OTHER COURT MATTER

Scuyler M. Lense has entered suit in the Allen circuit court against the Ohio Electric Railway company demanding $2,000 damages for injuries he sustained on October 23, of last year, when he was dragged around a curve clinging to a car that he says was started before he was safely on the steps.

He alleges in his complaint that he had one grip strapped to a crippled arm and had another on his other arm, which is also deformed, and that after the conductor had taken one he rang the bell and the car was started. He claims to have sustained hurts and bruises that aggravated his condition and he makes a demand for damages. The Lake Shore has been asked to build at Carroll crossing, the Pennsylvania at Wayne trace and the Grand Rapids and Indiana on the Goshen road north of the city.

Court of Appeals Will Order the Dynamiters to Return.

Indianapolis, March 13.—The certified copy of the judgment of the United States supreme court in the dynamite case decided last Monday, was received by United States District Attorney Frank C. It is the understanding here that the court of appeals will remand the convicted men to Fort Leavenworth penitentiary for, when the case was appealed from the district court it passed out of the hands of the court here.

Edward Smythe, of Peoria, Ill., one of the twenty-four men who were denied a new trial by the ruling of the supreme court, has reported voluntarily to Fort Leavenworth and begun serving his sentence, according to news dispatches received here.

TO OPEN MOUNDS MADE BY INDIANS

Organize Party to Search for Relics for Town Library.

WERE NEVER ENTERED

Macon, Mo., March 13.—An interesting expedition has been planned by school and business men of Macon and Adair counties for the early summer, to motor to the Indian mounds in Northern Missouri to collect relics for the Macon public library.

The men who are to take part in the work are Prof. John R. Kirk, president of the Kirksville normal school; Prof. Byron Crosby, instructor in the same institution; Prof. O. L. Cross, superintendent of the public schools of Macon county; John A. Cook, the astronomer; Harry M. Ruhey, ex-democratic state chairman; Dr. Charles Truitt, John Donoghy, and Squire W. D. Roberts and Dr. C. O. West, of New Cambria.

All Experienced Men.

All the men are enthusiastic students of history. Most of them have been on similar expeditions and have interesting private collections of stone axes, arrowheads, pottery and Indian bones.

There are a number of large Indian mounds on the Salt River bottoms in Shelby county, along the Chariton valley in Adair and Macon counties, and among the hills bordering Locust Creek valley in Linn county. Near the ancient fish trap on the Chariton river, in Southern Macon county, was an Indian village. The village was on both sides of the stream and the red men had built a stone ford or rude bridge to make crossing easy. In the center of this ford they anchored a curious structure which they used as a fish trap. That was eighty-five or ninety years ago, yet that old fish trap, remodeled and improved from time to time, was used until recent years, when industrious game wardens took dynamite and put the historical landmark out of commission.

The Work Is Exquisite.

Near the old Indian village site are some splendid mounds. From these have been taken some beautiful specimens of arrow-heads, pottery and Indian ornaments of various kinds. Dr. C. O. West, of New Cambria, has a large collection from these mounds.

"It is said that in the Indian days arrow-heads were used as legal tender substitutes of money," he says. "Certain it is that the most exquisite workmanship is shown on some of them. Collectors gladly pay fancy prices for a well made arrow-head."

In 61.7 per cent. of the cases of women factory workers in the state of Washington investigated by the industrial welfare commission the wage was less than $8 a week. The average was kept up by the pay of employes of fish canneries, who are permitted to work more than eight hours a day.

GIRLS! HAVE BEAUTIFUL, LUSTROUS, FLUFFY HAIR--25 CENT DANDERINE

No more dandruff or falling hair—A real surprise awaits you.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.—Adv.

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY, MARCH 15, 1914.

Subject, "The Lawful Use of the Sabbath."—Luke 13:10-17, 14:1-6. Golden text, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath."—Mark 2:27.

The profound proverb, "He could not see the forest for the trees," is appropriate, as we take up this lesson, for there is danger of giving so much of the precious half hour of lesson time to a detailed exposition of the Bible story, especially Satan's binding of the sick, that we shall fail to accomplish the great object of the lesson, which is to check the prevalent Sabbath desecration and restore the day to its divine and humane uses. The subject is really the Sabbath-keeping of Jesus, which was not doing nothing, but doing good, of which the lesson story is but one of many illustrations.

The Jews of Christ's day were too strict in their Sabbath observance. They ruled out not only work for gain, but works of mercy. With no authority from God to do so, they forbade even the healing of the sick. They made the Sabbath an empty day. Jesus filled it with blessing. Selfish work was to stop only that unselfish work might have full swing. In eight different parts of Palestine and Perea he healed the sick to show [illegible] is the law to do good on the Sabbath day." When he came back from heaven to Patmos, he told John the beloved to keep the Lord's day not by doing nothing, but by writing seven letters to make seven cities better. (Rev. 1:11.) The Sabbath is broken by lazy, selfish work and selfish pleasure. He who is in the spirit of Christ on the Lord's day will rise as early to get in a full day of doing good as if he were to devote the day to moneymaking. It is an unconscious revelation of a shallow Christian life when a household sleeps so late that they are late to church or Sunday school, and have no time for preparing mind or soul for either service; and when an excessive dinner is followed by a sleepy afternoon, instead of acts of mercy. How much good might be done in these precious Sabbath hours by Christian letter-writing and such conversations as those of Jesus in his Sabbath visits!

There is no need today to repeat Christ's remonstrances against too strict and stern an observance of the Sabbath, but rather we need to protest against an observance all too lax. In the United States there are ten millions of minors over four years of age, who attend no Sunday school, and who get no religious training at home on the Sabbath or on any other day. Many of those who do go to one religious service on Sunday spend half or more of the day in ways that are not in harmony with God's law.

These spring days are the very time to build dikes of protection against the summer floods of Sabbath desecration. The two chief fountains of this flood are Sunday ball and Sunday shows, which are but indoor and outdoor theaters. Clean moving pictures are about the best substitute for saloons, and the writer bears, in enlarged finger joints, the marks of his appreciation of baseball as a weekday sport. What are the objections to these amusements coming into our American Sunday?

First, they are both contrary to the fullest statement of the Sabbath law found in the Bible, in Isaiah 58:13-14, that bids "not to do our own ways nor find our own pleasure on the Sabbath." Selfish work and selfish pleasure are alike forbidden, that one day in the week may be set apart for altruism, for unselfish service.

Second, these Sunday games and shows are un-American. Rome fell when the cry of a pleasure-loving people was "Bread and games." We have in the other six days of the week at least six times as many shows and games as our fathers in the best days of Americanism, when baseball was played only once a week, and shows were, in most places, even less frequent. Now, when there are games and shows every day, there is no excuse for the amusement venders crowding their games for gain into the nation's day of rest and worship. We need rest from the excitement of "blood and thunder" shows as much as from the racket of factories, and money-making ball players and film manifestations have no more right to keep up their work for gain seven days in the week than other trades.

Third, Sunday games and Sunday shows are usually unlawful. In a few states the legislature has permitted games and shows; but usually both are forbidden because lawmakers see that in Europe permission for Sunday pleasures has always brought in Sunday work. That is why John Burns, the labor leader of Great Britain, was one of the successful leaders of the fight in London against the effort to publish Sunday papers. If editors and printers and their carriers and salesmen were allowed to work seven days in the week, all other workers would jeopardize their rest day. So it has been the rule in English-speaking countries (and only in these is Sunday rest general) to forbid amusements even though there is no admittance fee. We are required, therefore, by good citizenship to obey these Sunday laws, even though we have not thought enough about them to understand the reasons back of the law. The law-breaker is not a good citizen or a true patriot. We should obey the laws that protect our neighbor's rights to rest no less than those that protect his house against those who would steal lesser treasures.

It is a very serious matter to have so many future citizens drawn away from Sunday schools that would train them for good citizenship to schools of lawlessness in ball parks and moving picture shows. Boys may well learn from Sunday ball games and Sunday picture shows as from anything else the significance of law and the duty of subordinating our own pleasures for the general welfare. If every one is to do whatever he pleases when and where he pleases, then he should go away and live alone where the rights of others will not have to be considered. Religion, patriotism and law, all require us all to stand for a quiet Sabbath under the generous motto: "Rest and let rest on the rest day."

This, our fourth proposition, is proved by a great many eminent witnesses. Said Blackstone: "Keeping one day in seven as holy, a time of relaxation and refreshment, as well as for public worship, is of admirable service to the state, considered merely as a civil institution. It humanizes, by the help of conversation and society, the manners of the lower classes, which would otherwise degerate into a sordid ferocity and savage selfishness of spirit."

In one city the pastors kindly told the ball players of their interest in their game, appealed to their honor to obey state law and God's law, and said: "If you will play only Saturday, we will try to induce your employers to give you a half holiday, and will attend your game and urge others to attend." There were no more Sunday games. Pastors in one place arranged for a union service in a tent. After the secretary had shown that Sunday sport sowed the seeds of criminal life and threatened to undermine civil liberty, most of the audience expressed by rising the wish that there be no more Sunday games. There were none. In another town the members of three young people's societies agreed to stay away from the Sunday game and urge their acquaintances to do so. In two months the game stopped because so few came. A pastor and the secretary called on the man, a church member, who owned the playground, and showed him the law forbidding sports on Sunday. He said: "I did not like the Sunday game, but did not know it was unlawful. I will notify the players tomorrow that they cannot play there Sunday." A pastor having studied our statement of the duties of sheriffs and other officers, hearing that a Sunday game was announced, talked over the matter with the sheriff by telephone. He prevented the game. In another place three pastors called on a sheriff and showed him the law, and he notified the leader that the game must not be played on Sunday. These are but samples of many incidents. One pastor tried in vain to influence a sheriff who loved Sunday games, till he said: "If there is a ball game next Sunday, you will be arrested Monday." There was none.

Sunday ball games have been held to be illegal under statutes forbidding "unlawful assemblage" and "breach of peace," also under statutes forbidding "sporting;" and in case of paid players they can be proceeded against under laws forbidding any one to follow his ordinary vocation on Sunday. Dr. Edward Everett Hale, whom no one will accuse of illiberal views, says of this matter in addressing the young men of Boston regarding public sports on Sunday: "Those who indulge in them say far more distinctly than any words or voices could say that so far as they are concerned they mean that the next generation shall have no Sunday."

Does some one ask, "Should the state forbid sins against God?" Rev. J. B. Davison, the faithful leader of Sabbath defense in Wisconsin, answers: "Yes, when they are also crimes against man. The state must protect the citizen and itself. But what is most vital to the citizen's prosperity and happiness? And what to the nation's life? The plain answer to both questions is, 'True, strong moral character.' Sunday sport is a dagger that strikes a fatal blow at this character, the very heart of the citizen and the nation."—Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur F. Crafts in the Christian Herald.

THE FAMILY REJOICES

Toledo, March 13.—A receipt bearing a large seal was received in Probate Court from Londonderry, Ireland, as evidence that work of providing something for the widow and five small children of one of his countrymen had been accomplished by Cornelius C. Collins, No. 2130 Monroe street.

The paper was an acknowledgment that Mrs. Maggie McDonnell of Londonderry, had received $3,000 from the Lake Shore Railroad for her husband's death. This was almost entirely the result of the work of Collins, who had never known the husband nor any of his family and had never seen McDonnell until after he was dead.

McDonnell, who gave his name as M. J. Donnell in this country was killed July 17 by a Lake Shore train. Collins read in the paper of the death of this countryman of his who, the paper said, had no relatives in this country. Collins found the body at the undertaker's where it was sent by the coroner, got the pallbearers and arranged a funeral service for Donnell.

Collins inquired among the men whom Donnell had been working with on the railroad and found out what his correct name was and where he had come from. Having learned this, Collins found the widow and the five children were in Ireland. He then had the Probate Court appoint him as administrator of Donnell's estate so he could take up the claim against the railroad for causing the man's death. The claim was settled out of court for $3,000 and the funeral expenses. Collins sent every cent of the money to the widow and the children.

And he did it all because Donnell was an Irishman in a strange country without a friend.

Matthew 17:14-27.

14 And when they were come to the multitude there came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and saying,

15 Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is a lunatick, and sore vexed; for oftimes he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not cure him.

17 Then Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me.

18 And Jesus rebuked the devil; and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that hour.

19 Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Jesus said unto them, Because of your belief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you.

21 Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting.

22 And while they abode in Galilee, Jesus said unto them, The Son of man shall be betrayed into the hands of men:

23 And they shall kill him, and the third day he shall be raised again. And they were exceedingly sorry.

24 And when they were come to Capernaum, they that received tribute money came to Peter, and said, Doth not your master pay tribute?

25 He saith, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Jesus prevented him, saying, What thinketh thou, Simon? of whom do the kings of the earth take custom or tribute? of their own children, or of strangers?

26 Peter saith unto him, Of strangers. Jesus saith unto him, Then are the children free.

27 Notwithstanding, lest we should offend them, go thou to the sea, and cast an hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up; and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a piece of money; take that, and give unto them for me and thee.

FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1914.

Rise Early, Thou Sluggard

Now is the time when it's doubly worth while to get up at sunrise. During the winter there's always a temptation to lie abed late and snooze beneath warm comfortables—when you have any. Where one's work compels a prompter get-up, it's a bother rather than a blessing; and one is daily reminded of the chap who, suddenly willed a million, spent his first days of idleness throwing pillows at the alarm clock.

Not so, however, as Old Sol crawls close to the vernal solstice. The glory of a March sunrise, the glisten upon the morning frost and the faint but slowly growing suggestion of coming sap and buds and flowers and renewed twitter of birds are real pleasures which the sluggard misses.

Besides, there's a stimulus about this getting up with the sun which no other hour of rising quite approaches. It recalls the vim with which, a boy on the farm, you used to jump up to do the chores, bathe your face in the icy water near the pump, down your quota of steaming bacon and eggs, and go to the tasks of the day with pulses leaping and joy singing anthems throughout your soul.

Do you doubt what we say? Then put it to the test. Get up, tomorrow, with the sun, the chickens and the four-legged beasts. Walk to work in the exhilarating fresh air and sunshine. And see if it doesn't put pep into every part of your sluggish system.

A Commonplace of Tomorrow

Years ago a youngster fresh from college took over an old orchard on a Pennsylvania hilltop. The place sold for a song because its earlier owners, mere "habit farmers" who did as their grandsires had done, couldn't make ends meet.

The youngster tried scientific methods—trimmed and sprayed the trees, pinched off superfluous buds, plowed and fertilized and watered, read farm journals and experiment station bulletins and, most important of all, studied the markets.

The apples which he grew proved to be fine, lustrous, red apples, as sound as newly minted dollars and twice as handsome. He took samples to New York and contracted to supply the leading hotels. He wrapped each apple in crinkly paper with a monogram in gilt and found that this little detail doubled its selling price. He made daily shipments, first by express and then by parcel post.

First thing he knew his old, semi-abandoned orchard was yielding a net profit of $8,000 a year.

Now he is going to incorporate it for $100,000, peddle the stock, buy more land, plant more apple trees and do business on an extended scale. He can do it because he has a record of earnings which recommends the investment; and if he should die or quit there are plenty of other fruit farmers of his type to go on with the undertaking.

Incorporated farming is likely to be a commonplace of tomorrow.

Spectators who attend the trial of Mayor Donn M. Roberts and others at Terre Haute next week on charges of election frauds will be searched as they enter the doors of the court room and compelled to leave all weapons outside. Doubtless this will be construed in some quarters as another cruel blow at "personal liberty," and there will be disappointment if freedom doesn't shriek again as she did when the late lamented Mr. Kosciusko fell.

TAXATION AND CITIZENSHIP.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Messrs. Isaac Seligman and Frank E. Bliss, heretofore American citizens residing in London, are stated to have become naturalized in Great Britain on account of the American income tax. A report is heard of a third American citizen having taken the same course. Three so far, out of the thousands of American citizens residing abroad, is not so terrifying a proportion.

The choice between America and Great Britain on the subject of taxation involves some calculation. The American income tax begins at 1 per cent. on all in excess of $3,000 or $4,000, and runs up to 7 per cent. on that part of an annual income exceeding $500,000. The British income tax begins at $500 with an exemption in addition on account of children, and runs up to 7½ per cent. on incomes in excess of $2,000. This would make the American taxation far preferable, especially if death duties are added to the calculation.

But the American citizen residing in London has to pay both income taxes as long as he remains an American citizen. By renouncing their American citizenship they save the taxation on their incomes that comes from sources outside the United States. How much that is in the case of these new Englishmen we cannot say. But as it seems to outweigh in their minds the value of American citizenship and the increased levy on their heirs when they die, we must infer that it is important to them.

Probably there are some other Americans abroad who will follow the example for the same reasons. Probably the country can get along without them as well as they can get along without the country.

BACK TO AFRICA.

(Grand Rapids Press.)

Dr. Dan Crawford, who translated the Bible into Bantu and probably did many other meritorious deeds, has just announced in Denver that he will return to Africa to spend the remainder of his life. "He says the American civilization is too crude for endurance. He says he has lived for twenty-three years among the black people of Africa and has learned to love their simple mode of life. "I am disappointed in what I have seen of your civilization and must return to those people as soon as possible," says he.

In many ways no doubt Dr. Crawford is right, and then again, African civilization is somewhat cheaper. In America a man pays $75 for a tailor-made suit. In Africa he can go around clad in a G-string and a pleasant smile and nobody thinks any the worse of him for it. There are no motor cars in the jungle, and motors and taxis cost money. Then, again, the food question is much simpler. There is no cocoanut trust to hoist the price of food every few days, whether it needs hoisting or not.

When a man goes to a hotel in Central Africa, he climbs up into a treetop and sleeps. There is no long line of bellhops, porters, waiters, barbers and bartenders to tip. In Africa a porterhouse steak does not cost a dollar. This is for the reason that there is no porterhouse steak.

When it comes to real, hang-up civilization, however, Central Africa is not in it with America. Africa has no tango teas, no bunny hugs, no passionate sorks, no cabarets and no musical comedies. In fact, Africa has very little worth while outside of a magnificent climate at certain seasons of the year. The doctor may mean well, but his judgment has been warped by having a faulty viewpoint.

TO THE HOUSEWIFE.

Madam, if your husband is like most men he expects you to look after the health of yourself and children. Coughs and colds are the most common of the minor ailments and are most likely to lead to serious diseases. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when it has a cold. If you will inquire into the merits of the various remedies that are recommended for coughs and colds, you will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy stands high in the estimation of people who use it. It is prompt and effectual, pleasant and safe to take, which are qualities especially to be desired when a medicine is intended for children. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

500 ATTEND LOVE FEAST

for state treasurer, was given a decided boost. It was also announced, outside of the banquet hall, that Congressman Adair is to be a candidate for governor in 1916. It was also rumored that State Auditor William H. O'Brien, another of the banquet speakers, considered becoming a candidate for the governor's office.

Following the feast the evening's program was opened by Stephen A. Callahan, president of the Jefferson club, who introduced Judge Carl Yaple, of the superior court, as toastmaster.

Mr. Adair Speaks.

Chief among the speakers was Congressman Adair and his message to the democrats of Indiana came direct from the nation's capital. He brought with him greetings from the president, vice-president, the two democratic senators from Indiana and his twelve colleagues in the house of representatives.

Mr. Adair declared that the democratic party has already redeemed every pledge that it made and has now come into its own. In part he said:

"The democratic party has come into its own and is at last understood and appreciated by the people. Year after year our party suffered defeat, its banner trailed in the dust, but now it is in power in the nation, it is in power in the state, practically every city in Indiana is presided over by a democratic mayor and almost every village and county is ruled by democratic officials, yet notwithstanding all this responsibility we hear no charge of corruption, fraud, dishonesty or incompetency made against any of our democratic officials. The party to which we belong and whose principles we love was born at a time when the souls of men were tried. It has lived to see almost two hundred parties crumble and fall and in my judgment it will live many years in the hearts of the American people when the republican party and the bull moose party are dead and forgotten, and have gone to join their departed predecessors.

"No political party in the history of the country ever faced such responsibilities as was faced by our party when it recently came into power. The republican party had been in complete control of the government for sixteen years during which time, by legislation special privileges had been granted which enabled the few to take an undue advantage of the many, and these grants had continued until the beneficiaries of the system looked upon them as vested rights. The people had largely lost faith in the republican party and still they were not quite willing to turn the government over to the democratic party, as our party was misunderstood. The people had been led to believe that democratic success meant destruction of business, soup houses and panics. The democratic party was charged with being an enemy of business and especially of wealth. No greater falsehood was ever uttered. The democratic party is not now, nor never has been, the enemy of wealth. Our party wants every man, regardless of his financial condition, to have the same rights, the same opportunities and that same privileges under the law, but it is now, and always has been, opposed to legislating a few men rich at the expense of the balance of the people. The business interests of the country need have no fear that the democratic party will enact any legislation that will hinder, hamper or destroy any legitimate business industry. The republican party had charged us with not being capable of constructive legislation, but the first year of Wilson's administration has proven that charge to be false, for never in the history of the country was there enacted so much constructive legislation as there was during the first year of Wilson's administration.

The 1913 Legislature.

"We asked for power and it was given us," declared Senator Van Nuys after paying a tribute to Senator S. B. Fleming, of this city, and commending the candidacy of George A. Bittler for nomination for state treasurer. "We asked for power, and when we got it the legislature of 1913 in Indiana used its power for the best interests of the people." In part Senator Van Nuys said:

"The people were demanding radical and constructive legislation; they were demanding relief from that system of inequality and injustice which had grown up under continued republican administrations.

"The legislature tried to meet those demands. The platform pledges were redeemed almost to the letter. New and constructive statutes were enacted and commissions are now working in the formation of additional statutes for the next session.

"The creation of the public utilities commission was one of the most comprehensive acts of the assembly. The fearless and equitable manner in which it handled the late strike in Indianapolis alone justifies the labors of our legislators in its creation.

"The wisdom and manly attitude of Governor Ralston during that same unfortunate condition also demonstrated that he is big enough and broad enough to preside with dignity as chief executive of the great commonwealth.

"Another statute which will inure to the lasting benefit of the state is the vocational education statute. Statistics show that 85 per cent. of our boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years are compelled to leave school from economic reasons.

"It is to give this great army of boys and girls an opportunity to make good that this statute was passed. We are in sympathy with that state and national movement looking toward he conservation of our natural resources, but permit me to say that the wealth of the nation is not alone confined to the wealth of our mines, the fertility of our soil or the growth of our cities and towns, but in the preservation and conservation of the health, the hopes and the energies of the American boy and the American girl.

"It is to this end that our new vocational statute was passed.

"The old order changeth in Indiana. "It changeth politically and, as a result, the rights and privileges of the people are consulted today in legislation and judicial assemblage as never before. It changeth industrially and, as a result, the employed and the employed are sharing more and more in the results of their joint efforts and finding joy in the sharing.

"It changeth socially and, as a result, fewer men are passing by on the other side than ever before. And the old democratic party is entitled to the credit for these changes. As one of the vehicles of democratic policies we are claiming for the legislature its quota of responsibility and its quota of credit for this new and better order of affairs—social, industrial and political in Indiana."

The State's Finances.

When Toastmaster Yaple introduced State Auditor William H. O'Brien, that gentleman was greeted by a series of prolonged cheers, and as soon as he could make himself heard by the banqueters, he proceeded in a modest way to tell about the condition of Indiana's finances.

He told in his lengthy address how the state had been able to pay off old debts handed down from the former republican administrations. He touched on every department of the state and in conclusion said:

"The all-democratic administration has paid off $520,000 of the bonded indebtedness of the state, and $103,000 of the state board of agriculture's colosseum indebtedness; making in all a total reduction of the state debt of $623,000.

"The total foreign bonded debt of the state is now $280,000, and the Ralston administration will pay all of this debt before January 1, 1915. The only debt remaining after the first day of January, 1915, will be the domestic debt established for the investment of the permanent endowment funds of the educational institutions, and the Vincennes university bonds due in 1917.

"The legislature of 1915 will wipe out the sinking fund levy entirely and reduce the tax rate that much, as the present levy will provide funds to pay the Vincennes university bonds of $110,000. The Indiana university permanent endowment bonds of $144,000 are held by the treasurer of state, and the interest is paid to the university. The Purdue university bonds, amounting to $340,000, must remain irreducible, for the reason the sum represents a gift from the United States to Purdue to be invested in United States or Indiana bonds, bearing not less than 5 per cent. interest per annum. I am glad that the administration of the big-brained, big-hearted and thoroughly democratic Sam Ralston is to be given the glory of paying all of the reducible debt of Indiana."

Bittler Given Ovation.

George A. Bittler, of this city, now a member of the state board of accounts and one of the eight candidates for the state treasurer nomination next week, was tendered an enthusiastic greeting by the assemblage, and the young man's candidacy was given its greatest endorsement when the five hundred persons present, many from other parts of the state, shouted themselves hoarse in greeting as he stood on the platform to begin his address.

It was several minutes before the applause ceased and then Mr. Bittler spoke, first about the Jefferson club of Allen county, then about the success of the democratic administration of national, state, county and city. He complimented the young democrats of the state for their activity in his behalf as a candidate, and for their marked interest in the affairs of the party. In closing he said:

"If successful in securing the nomination and election, I give you my pledge that I shall put forth my very best endeavors to perform the duties of state treasurer in such an acceptable manner that it will reflect honor upon the great party at whose hands I ask the nomination. It shall be my determined purpose to give such an administration as will warrant the nomination and election of some other deserving democrat at the close of my administration."

The Other Speakers.

Others on the program were Hon. J. Frank Dunten, of Lagrange; Senator Houk, of Mt. Vernon, O.; Judge John H. Eggeman, of Fort Wayne; Stephen A. Callahan, president of the Jefferson club; Attorney W. W. Sharpless, of Garrett, and the following state candidates who were each given five minutes time in which to address the convention:

For auditor of state—Dale J. Crittenberger, of Anderson; Myron D. King, of Indianapolis.

For secretary of state—Samuel Welk, Scottsburg, Ind.; James Cox, Columbus, Ind.

For judge supreme court—M. B. Lairy, Logansport; Charles Drummond, South Bend; Judge Gallagher, Michigan City.

For judge appellate court—Fred Caldwell, Winchester.

For attorney general—Edwin Corr, Bloomington; George W. Curtis, Mt. Vernon.

For treasurer of state—W. A. Morris, Frankfort; George McCombs, Danville; Lou E. Bernethy, North Judson; T. W. O'Connor, Monticello; George A. Bittler, Fort Wayne.

For clerk supreme court—Harry E. Grube, Plymouth; J. Fred France, Huntington.

During the afternoon a delegation of fifty civil service employes called on Congressman Adair at the Anthony hotel, asking for his views concerning the questions of pensions for superannuated civil service employes. Congressman Adair told them that while there is no bill in congress at this time touching the matter, if one is introduced he will give it careful and considerable attention. The employes tendered him a vote of thanks after a motion had been placed in order by Lew Nicklas.

The Reason

The lowering of the tariff on woolen goods has slightly reduced the prices on garments. A saving we give you instead of putting it into our own pocket. But of far greater importance is the fact that our buyer buys for nine great stores—hundreds of garments—where the ordinary store buys one or two. Because of this enormous purchasing power we are able to get the lowest prices, to say nothing of the many choice lots of odd merchandise which we are able to buy way under price. Whenever we make a saving you get the benefit. The old $10, $15 and $20 price is a relic of the past since the entrance of the GRAND LEADER into the local merchandising field.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

The Sermons of Pulpit and Stage as Regards "The Traffic."

The theater is one of the great forces that is making the world over anew. Few will deny this, save perhaps some Puritans who are still doing their thinking in a previous century.

One is compelled to recognize the power of the theater in remodeling the lives of men, when one witnesses a drama like "The Traffic." One sees the whole bitter tragedy and poverty, and the terrible crime of white slavery, laid bare, and stands appalled at the sight.

The spectator goes forth into the street afterwards, with a big thought pounding in his brain. No man, however great an orator, could impress his hearers with the horrors of the Black Allies, Poverty and White Slavery as those who go to see "The Traffic" will be impressed.

And when we have men and women in cities all over the country coming away from the theater saying to themselves, "Something must be done about all this" something WILL be done.

"The Traffic" will be presented at the Majestic tomorrow matinee and night.

"Damaged Goods," Soon to Be at the Majestic.

"Damaged Goods," Eugene Brieux's startling sociological play which Richard Bennett's New York company of co-workers will present here at the Majestic on Wednesday for one night only, has the distinction of being the only theatrical entertainment presented in the national capital on the Sabbath day. This event took place last April when, under the auspices of the Society for Social Hygiene, Richard Bennett brought his company to Washington from New York City in order that members of congress and other officials in national life might see the play and pass upon its fitness for presentation before the general public. More than four thousand applications for seats were received for this single performance whereas the capacity of the theater was limited to seventeen hundred. In the audience were the most distinguished senators and representatives in congress and their wives; many diplomats of renown; more than thirty of the leading clergymen of the city and all of the prominent officials of the city government. President Wilson's cabinet was represented by Postmaster General Burleson and Secretary of Labor Wilson and his daughter. The play created such a profound impression that the Washington board of trade passed a form of resolution instructing its secretary to see what arrangements could be made for a second presentation of the remarkable play in the city. The cast includes Howell Hall, Raymond Bond, Thomas Erwin, George Allinson, J. D. Walsh, Aileen Hackett, Isabelle Weinteker, Maude Dickerson, Dorice Stemple, Anna Ashley.

Gaudy Checks for the Tailor Maids

The girl who enjoys conspicuous distinction will have her new spring walking suit of blue and white, green and white or brown and white check.

These suits are strictly tailored and made with front hip pockets and rather long cut-away coats.

The one illustrated is of dark red and white check with high cut waist coat of pique. The hat is of black tagal straw with a high stick-up of black feathers.

AT THE TEMPLE

The Temple bill begins with a sensation and ends with a curiosity. In other words the Rexos in their beautiful skating act and the tunnel feature with which the act closes is really sensational while the new things that Ed F. Reynard has crowded into his present act of "A Morning in Hicksville," are so numerous that one wonders how in the world he does it. Mr. Reynard is a clever ventriloquist but he has so much more than that in his act one nearly forgets that the many voices heard are really all one. The act is a play in itself with so many laughs in it that the act becomes one long laugh that doesn't stop until the curtain falls. According to the program and what one sees on the stage Mr. Reynard is assisted by Jawn Jawnson, Mary Norman, Cozy Koontz, the great comedian, Seth Dewberry and a number of others all funny enough to make your face ache.

Miss Venita Gould in imitations creates a sensation in the way of entertainment. She is about as good as they are made. By all means see her for her art is down to the fine point and she is for the moment whomever she imitates. George Cohan, Sam Bernard, Nazimova and other equally well known celebrites are imitated to perfection. Norton and Earle are a singing pair in "echoes" from musical comedy who more than make good. They make a big hit. Both sing well, their work is exceedingly clean and high grade and their singing, dancing and costuming in every way attractive. The Four American Harmonists give a singing and instrumental offering to replace the Hickey Brothers on the program. The "Four" are young men who seem to be equally skillful on many instruments. They appear as well dressed gentlemen, and act like them while their music, whether with stringed instruments or as a brass quartet, is very good indeed.

AT THE EMPRESS

The "Country Store" will be the extra added offering at the Empress theater tonight, and this one gives promise of being even vastly more amusing than those of previous weeks. A big collection of gifts has been secured and among these will be articles of considerable value. Those who have attended the Empress on "Country Store" nights know what real sport it is.

This week's show is one of the greatest of the entire history of vaudeville locally. Including seven acts, headed by Art Smith, Fort Wayne's youthful "birdboy," there is a solid hour and a half show without a moving picture. The bill includes Fontaine and Edna, in a combination of singing, dancing and feats of contortion amid a special stage setting; Cullen Bros., eccentric dancers; John T. Doyle & Co., in a dramatic playlet, "The Police Inspector's Surprise;" Marie Stoddard, an unusual sort of comedienne; Shreck, O'Arville and Dutton, in a novel acrobatic and singing skit, and Frank Morrell, the golden voiced tenor. It is a show of distinctive surprises and is unequalled in the history of local amusements at popular prices.

MAKE YOUR HOME ATTRACTIVE.

Too Many Ornaments Not in Good Taste.

Be chary of too many ornaments in your rooms, a number of little china knick-knacks and souvenir odds and ends are not pleasing. For the mantelpiece, a pair of candlesticks, a clock, a vase for flowers possibly, are all that are desirable. Other vases or delightful old brass or copper pots or bits of pewter and a lamp are all you need to make your room a homy and delightful one, especially if you keep a few cut flowers in the vases and friendly books here and there on the tables. As for bookcases, if you cannot obtain just the kind you wish, why not have a carpenter come in and put up shelves in the corners of the room which you can spare for books? These shelves can be painted to match the woodwork of the room and are often more attractive than the case itself. Another advantage is that as your book possessions increase you can add to your shelves. Easy chairs are a necessary part of the comfortable home. Is there anything more deliciously homelike than the softly padded armchair of generous proportions?

There is a great deal of furniture to be had nowadays which, though not actually old, is designed on old models and carried out in woods which, while they cannot show quite such wondrous tones as oak and mahogany polished by time and use, are still very beautiful. So if you have picked up an old table you can have a sideboard made to match it and it will be so fair an imitation of period and tone that few can tell the difference.

SILK GLOVES FOR DANCES.

The almost ethereally airy dancing frocks of tulle are accompanied by accessories that carry out their delicate effect. Instead of heavy kid gloves, silken gloves embroidered prettily on the long wrists are drawn over the arm. Sashes are of chiffon or tulle edged with fur, and fans are of beaded tulle, rather than feathers.

IN THE DRAWING ROOMS.

Fashion favors serving the cocktail and relish in the drawing room before dinner, and the serving of coffee and cordial in the same way after dinner, so the tiny cocktail and coffee (or tea) napkins have become a necessity. The cocktai napkins are the smallest of these. Where the cloth is lace-edged the napkins are made to match, but many innovations are seen in tiny "Chantecler" and gnome designs. The latter are particularly charming, for the wee fairies of the woods are pictured doing all sorts of droll things.

Though several women have passed the examinations for the bar in Georgia, none have been admitted to practice.

TRYING TO FIND THE TOTAL COST

WILL REPORT MONDAY

Robert E. Kelly, of the board of public works, and County Attorney Edward G. Hoffman started today on an inspection trip of the river banks with a view of securing data for a report to be made March 16 of the cost of the property needed to carry out the plans for flood prevention and also to find out how much of it will be donated to the city.

Fourteen parcels of land are embraced in the plans prepared by the city engineer for the committee and in addition to making an inspection an effort is being made to see the owners and to canvass the situation with them. Most of the property is in the hands of citizens though sufficiently imbued with public spirit to make concessions to the city for the protection of property from high water at a minimum cost as the whole plan will be an expensive undertaking.

The question of adding a span to the Spy Run, Columbia street and Walton avenue bridges has been discussed at great length and this is regarded as one of the most important items in the matter under investigation.

Pumping Out the Water.

Today the task of emptying the intake tank at the city water works pumping station No. 1 to be sure that all articles of clothing that might have fallen from the body discovered there last week was started by the Herman Tapp Construction company with the probability that it will be completed by this afternoon, late.

Only three or four feet remained and the indications are that the missing hat or cap worn by the dead man is not in the water. Just why it should have been discarded is one of the puzzling questions that entered into the case.

Letters Sent Out.

Letters have been sent out to the Wabash Railroad company showing the cost of the work done by the city with the purpose of arriving at a settlement of the perplexing problem this has involved.

When the company's officials have had an opportunity to look the figures over and they will decide upon their attitude in the matter and an effort will be made to reach an adjustment.

Kline Gets the Place.

John Kline has been appointed to succeed Frank E. Singrey as custodian at the isolation hospital. The new incumbent lives at 309 East Williams street and will start on his new work March 15.

Asks Lights Put In.

Members of the board of works have instructed the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company to place lights in the subway under the Wabash tracks in the eastern portion of the city.

The Birth Record.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Miller, 121 East Washington boulevard, a boy.

ROCKEFELLER'S BIG GIFT.

Oil King to Make $50,000,000 Foundation for Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., March 13.—That John D. Rockefeller is the guiding genius behind the Cleveland foundation, recently launched by F. H. Goff, president of the Cleveland Trust company, and that the oil king plans to leave not less than $50,000,000 to the trust fund, the income of which would be used for bettering Cleveland, was the substance of a report in circulation among bankers here today. Mr. Goff was out of the city and could not be seen on the question. It is said Rockefeller desires to leave a memorial in this city where his early life was spent and he has decided upon the foundation as the best method.

Goff was a former member of Rockefeller's legal firm and a close friend of the Standard Oil founder.

KELLEY'S ARMY STILL IN FIELD

VAGRANTS DEFIANT

Sacramento, Cal., March 13.—In spite of the notice served on "Gen." Kelley's army of the unemployed that it must either get out or be driven out, it seemed probable today that the authorities of Yolo county would make good their word, that the employment of physical force would be postponed for at least another twenty-four hours. The attitude of Sacramento county was responsible for this change in front, its officials refusing today to aid Yolo county in any way. Yolo county accordingly found itself confronted with the problem of sub-dividing 1,700 embittered men, many of whom carried clubs. The army spent a tranquil night and was in high spirits today. Plenty of food was being supplied by Sacramento labor unions. Neither Yolo nor Sacramento county contributed any rations.

It was thought that the army of 700 unemployed men who have been encamped on the Yolo levee opposite Sacramento for the last five days must break camp today and scatter or be forcibly escorted in small bands to various parts of the state. The men asked until noon before giving a final answer, but their request was interpreted by the authorities as an excuse for time in which to organize for they were busy over night fashioning clubs and staves from willows on the levee banks and from fire wood. Acording the resolution was taken by the authorities to go forth sternly and promptly with the work of driving the "army" out of this territory. Deputy sheriffs armed with stout pick staves, were to charge the mass, break it into squads, round up the squads, hustle them into waiting railroad cars and ship them in lots of not more than fifty to widely separated points within a radius of 50 miles. The citizens' committee of Sacramento, is to pay the transportation and the surrounding counties are acquiescent, provided they be not given too large a problem to deal with at any one point.

Forty extra police besides the regular force of sixty and 275 special deputy sheriffs, divided into watches of 180 men each aided by firemen and militia still on guard at the state arsenal, kept watch at the bridges last night and patrolled the city. A search of the county hospital and the records of the coroner's office show that there is no truth in a rumor that three men have died of injuries inflicted on them in last Monday's riot. Of eight "army" patients, one only was wounded. He suffered a two-inch scalp wound and is rapidly recovering. Another was burned by boiling water when he upset a camp cauldron. The remainder sustained only minor bruises.

Society

Officers and teachers of the First Baptist Sunday school met last evening and went to the home of their superintendent, R. H. Mauk, of 130 East Suttenfield street and completely surprised him. Mr. Mauk attended the Pure Food show early in the evening and found his friends present when he arrived home. Two weeks ago Mr. Mauk was re-elected to the office of superintendent and he had called a meeting for tonight to talk over plans for the coming year. But his associates in work wanted to show him still more indication of their appreciation of his services than attending the called meeting and for that reason arranged the surprise. That Mr. Mauk might have a continual reminder of the support and loyalty of his friends Rev. Mr. Snashall presented him with a gift from the company of an easy chair that was "lined with love and filled with affection," said the pastor.

Miss Margaret Gillie, of Lawton place, will entertain the Vi Va Vale social club girls this evening.

CONGRESSMAN IM FIGHTING MOOD

Colorado Statesman Violates Postal Law and Defies Department.

NEWS OF WASHINGTON

Washington, March 13.—Representative George J. Kindel, of Denver, who for months has been agitating a reduction of parcel post rates and who recently spoke on the subject in the house, has run afoul the postal authorities in advertising the sale and distribution of his speech by means of a printed stamp on the back of copies he had mailed under fraud as part of the congressional record. Third Assistant Postmaster General Roper appealed to the department of justice which gave an opinion stating that the postal law was being violated. Mr. Kindel says he defies the department.

TO HELP THE FARMERS.

Washington, March 13.—To benefit farmers the rural credit commission today recommended to congress that banks with a capitalization as low as $2,000 be allowed to become member banks of the new federal reserve system. The commission contends that the present limit of $25,000 prevents the benefits of the system being extended to a large degree to the farmers. The commission recommended that the states authorize the creation of credit unions and crop credit associations. These recommendations were submitted in a report.

GIVING RAILROADS A CHANCE.

Washington, March 13.—Officials of the department of justice and the New Haven railroad resumed conference today in an effort to find a plan acceptable to both sides for the dissolution of the system.

Although Attorney General McReynolds and his assistants were still hopeful that the New Haven representatives would see their way clear to meet the demands of the department it was conceded that the negotiations had reached a critical stage and that further delay on the part of the road might lead to the filing of an anti-trust suit for dissolution by a court decree. The principal points of difference it was said involved the length of service of the trustees who are to take over and dispose of the Boston & Maine stock now owned by the New Haven and the disposition of some of the New Haven trolley lines.

LESS DIVORCE IS LEAGUE'S SLOGAN

WANT NATIONAL LAW

Muskogee, Okla., March 13.—No more divorces is the slogan of the "Anti-Di- organized in Muskogee for the purpose of launching a campaign for a national law prohibiting the severance of the marriage bond. Rev. E. D. Cameron, noted Baptist minister and former State Superintendent of Public Instruction of Oklahoma, is at the head of the organization.

The Anti-Divorce has secured a charter from the secretary of state and is duly recognized as a corporation. The incorporators are Rev. E. D. Cameron, Rev. D. Roland Martin, Rev. J. K. Thompson, Rev. H. C. Shiffler and Mrs. Josephine Spalding, all of Muskogee.

These ministers will start immediately the work of organizing the league in the state, with branches in all the principal cities and towns, and later spread the movement to other states. The plans of organization of the Anti-Divorce League of America will be followed by the disciples of the anti-divorce movement. The county and city will be the unit at the head of the whole will be a central board of directors.

Will Work for a National Law.

As soon as the league is well under way the members will attempt to elect only congressmen and representatives to govern the country who are believers in the anti-divorce movement and will uphold all the principles set forth by the league. In this manner it is hoped that a law prohibiting divorces all over the United States may be passed.

At the same time they hope to have a law passed providing for the pensioning of all destitute mothers. The members of the anti-divorce league all believe that a mother should be pensioned in upreference to a soldier. Their line of argument for this cause is that a soldier has helped to decrease the population of the world while the mother increases it. For this reason they say that of the two the mother is more deserving than the soldier.

"While the Protestant preachers do not believe in many of the Catholic rites and ceremonies, there is one thing in the Catholic church that all well balanced men believe in, and that is to 'vorce," declared the Rev. Cameron.

"They believe that the government should have nothing whatever to do with marriage and that it should be performed only by an accredited minister of the gospel. This belief is shared by the ministers who are the most active in the organization of the Anti-Divorce league. They think that the sooner all people, Catholics and Protestants alike, share in this belief the sooner will the moral standard of the country be raised to a high plane.

Nations and Heroes Wrecked by Divorce.

"The downfall of Greece, Rome and other great empires were due to the divorce evil. Russia was defeated by Japan on account of the divorce evil in Russia. Mark Anthony met defeat and ruin on account of divorcing his Roman wife and pursuing his affair with Cleopatra. Nero, probably the most cruel of Roman rulers, was started on his path of destruction and debauchery by the divorce evil. Henry VIII, of England, accredited as one of the greatest criminals in the history of the world, was actuated in his first crime by the desire of divorce. Napoleon Bonaparte, probably the greatest military genius the world has ever seen, met nothing but defeat and calamities after he had divorced his wife Josephine.

"People who have studied the affairs of the country say that the divorce evil is becoming such that, unless it is stopped within the near future, the country will meet the fate of Greece and Rome. Or, stopping short of this calamity, Protestants will lose control of the country, and the growing strength of the Catholics will enable them to take up the country into their own hands. Just as the Catholics believe, the Protestant ministers of the United States hope to establish the divine origin of the marriage ceremony and to do away with "commercial" marriage. They hope to take the power of performing marriage ceremonies out of the hands of civil and federal authorities and to vest it wholly in the clergy of the country.

"The marriage ceremony says 'What God hath joined together, let no man put asunder.' This portion of the ceremony is regarded no more than if it had never been heard of.

"In the state of Oklahoma there are nine grounds for divorce, every one of which does nothing more or less than encourage divorces. The Bible nowhere teaches polygamy, and under the present circumstances marriage in a large number of cases is nothing more than polygamy and adultery.

"If polygamy is to be practiced, the method established by Brigham Young is far the more honorable. According to his teachings, a man may have as many wives as he chooses, but he at least must support them. This is more than is done by people who say that they do not practice polygamy, but who have several divorced wives making their own living as best they can. This method of practicing polygamy is nothing but the practice of adultry."

WHALE MEAT GOOD AS FOOD PRODUCT

There is Much Of It and Would Be Boon to the Poor.

SAYS THIS EXPERT

Washington, March 13.—"If the American and European people could be educated to the point of eating the canned flesh of animals which individually yield as much as 80,000 pounds of meat, what a wonderful food supply would be within reach of the poor of our great cities," writes Roy Chapman Andrews, of New York, in an interesting communication on whaling to the National Geographic society at Washington. He predicts the commercial extinction of the large whales within a few decades is inevitable. Except in Japan, he says, the flesh of the animals, which is palatable and healthful, is now going to waste or is being used for fertilizing purposes.

"Few people realize that the blue or sulphur-bottom whale, found in all our oceans, is not only the largest animal that lives today, but is also, so far as is now known, the largest animal that has ever existed on earth or in its waters," writes Mr. Andrews. "Specimens have been measured which reached a length of 87 feet and in all probability weighed as much as 75 tons. Although the mouth is enormous, large enough in fact to permit ten or twelve men to stand upright in it, the throat measures only nine inches in diameter.

Live on Clean Shrimps.

"These animals, like most of the 'whalebone whales,' usually feed on minute crustaceans, a shrimp about three-quarters of an inch long. They probably never eat fish of any kind if other food it to be had, and of the many stomachs I have examined never once could anything but the little red crustaceans be found. From the stomach of one blue whale at Vancouver Island five barrels of shrimp were taken, and it was by no means full.

"Probably no cetacean has such wonderful strength as have the blue whales. When I saw a blue whale with a harpoon between the shoulders drag a ship, with engines at full speed astern, through the water almost as though it had been a rowboat, I began to listen to the stories of their incredible strength with more respect. The finback, closely related to the blue whale, has been called the 'greyhound of the sea' for its long, slender body is built on the lines of the racing yacht and the animal can equal the speed of the fastest steamship.

The Affection of a Whale Calf.

"All the large whales show great affection for their young, and the cows and calves will seldom leave each other when pursued by a ship. I remember at one time in Alaska we sighted a female finback with a young one about thirty feet long beside her. As the old whale rose to spout the gunner fired, killing her almost instantly. The calf, although badly frightened, continued to swim in a circle about the ship, and finally, when its dead mother had been hoisted to the surface, the little fellow came alongside so close that I could have struck him with a stone. During the time that the carcass was being inflated and the gun reloaded, the calf was constantly within a few fathoms of the ship, swimming around and around, sometimes rubbing itself against the body of its dead mother. Finally a harpoon was sent crashing into its side and it sank without a struggle.

"In the upper portion of the head of the sperm whale is an immense oiltank in which the valuable 'spermaceti' is found in a liquid condition and from which it may be dipped with a bucket when an incision is made. From a sperm whale 60 feet in length, which was sent from Japan, 20 barrels of spermaceti were taken out of the 'case' and the surrounding fat. The sperm whale is the animal which yields ambergris, the valuable substance used so extensively in the manufacture of our best perfumes."

MILKMEN FINED; TAKE APPEAL.

After a hearing in the city court today Judge Kerr adjudged Oscar Adler and Carl Stimmel, dairymen, guilty of having sold milk that contained visible dirt and fined each of them $10 and costs. The dairymen took an appeal to the circuit court. The cases were filed by the city health department in conjunction with deputies from the state department of health.

Marie Schwabacher, a pretty Antwerp milliner, who was courted by two brothers, promised to marry the winner of a game at cards, but eventually eloped with the one who was beaten.

RAPID RISE FOR AMATUER HURLER

WITH BOSTON TEAM

Hot Springs, Ark., March 13.—From his first league game in the middle of August last year to a Red Sox training possibility for this coming season is the skyrocket spurt of Fred N. Coumbe, 22-year-old left-handed pitcher, of Corning, N. Y.

In 1912 and until the middle of August, 1913, Coumbe was the main reliance in the box for the Canisteo, N. Y., town team. In 1913 he pitched 20 games for the Canisteo team, winning 17. Naturally the tale of his southpaw prowess reached the ears of Manager Mike O'Neil, of the Utica club. O'Neil sent a telegram to Coumbe at his home in Corning, N. Y., asking him to join Utica as soon as possible. The salary was modest, but Coumbe would have gone for even less, so keen was he to get into organized league ball. He packed up his kit and arrived in Utica Aug. 12. "Friday, the 13th." Manager O'Neil had enough regard for his recruit youngster not to send him onto the mound that day of double headers.

But the next day the Utica team was to play a double-header with Troy at Troy. O'Neil was in a bad way for pitchers. He thought he might as well give the Corning lad a test. Coumbe pitched what ball players call a swell game. He didn't know the batters he was hurling to. It was a good day and one of the biggest crowds of the year was out, everyone shouting for the home team. But Coumbe stayed through to the end. Troy winning the game in the eleventh inning, 2 to 1. Coumbe only allowed five hits and gave but two passes. His job was assured.

The season in the New York State league had but a month to run, but Coumbe was the pitching sensation of the circuit for the balance of the campaign. He pitched seven more games and all of them were victories, the kid hurler striking through every contest. It was his natural pitching ability that put Utica into the first division. Manager O'Neil has admitted that his team would have surely finished fifth, if not sixth, but for the great eleventh hour work of the recruit southpaw. The rest of the Utica pitchers did not need to deliver very much with Coumbe winning seven straight.

Coumbe is married and has a three-months-old little girl back in Corning. He weighs 160 pounds, but has a good frame, and as he stands 5 feet 10¾ inches high, there is every indication that it will not be long before he adds the ten pounds or so which good baseball judges believe he needs to stand the gaff in the big show.

There is no spit-ball in Coumbe's repertoire. In the eight games which he pitched for Utica he gave less than two bases on balls per game. His fingers are long and he has a grip like a vise. When he clutches the ball he almost conceals it. He has a fast ball and plenty of twisters, but has never had much success with the slow ball, mainly because he has not had a chance to learn the advanced strategy of the hurling art.

STAGE DOUBLE-HEADER.

Boys' and Girl's Teams of Local High and Auburn to Play at Library Hall.

The boys' and girls' basket ball teams representing the Auburn and local high schools will stage a double-header this evening at Library hall. These teams meet for the first time this season and the game promises to be one of the most interesting of the year as a great deal of rivalry lies between the two schools.

Word was received this morning that the Auburn team would come in a special car accompanied by a band of rooters. Next Friday the team from the local high school will play at Auburn and two special cars have been secured to take them there.

WALTER JOHNSON WAS A BACKSTOP

Famous Pitcher Started in Baseball Behind the Bat.

HE WAS A BIG JOKE

Washington, D. C., March 13.—King of all slabbists is he, Walter Johnson, the Kansas cyclone. So much has been written in newspapers and magazines regarding this wonderful pitcher that the public has become pretty well informed as to his career. But there is one little point to be brought out. Did you know that this demon of the mound broke into baseball as a catcher? Well, he did.

Furthermore, are you aware of the fact that Johnson had a trial in several minor leagues before he came to Washington, and that he failed to make good on either occasion? Think of it, then of him.

Would you not like to have a bank roll equal to the amount he has drawn and earned for the Washington club, to say nothing of the price he would bring were he put on the market for sale? It all came about in this manner:

Walter Perry Johnson is a native of California. When a boy of 14 he started to play baseball, and went behind the bat because he was larger than other fellows on the team and could throw a "stone" farther than much older boys.

He was a receiver until he entered the Fullerton high school, and the chances are that he would not be a pitcher today but for a line drive that "handcuffed" his pitcher. The team had a utility catcher, but no pitcher.

Johnson had terrific speed but no curve, and nothing much on his fast ball. He took up the task of stopping his opponents. It was his first game on the mound and little did he know at the time that fate had destined him to become the greatest slabbis at all times. He continued to pitch for Fullerton high school. His speed became a terror to opposing clubs. His family moved to Idaho, and he was given a chance to show his worth with the Tacoma club of the Northwestern league.

He was considered a joke, and was released in three days. Still determined to make good, he asked for a trial in the Coast league. His attempt there was also an utter failure. He then went to Weiser, Idaho, with an independent team, and finished the 1906 season. Johnson was learning as the time went by.

In the spring of 1907 his friends endeavored to persuade him to ask the Los Angeles club to give him a trial.

Johnson was getting tired of asking for trials. He made the remark that if "they want me, let them come and offer me a contract."

Los Angeles never made an attempt to secure his services. Johnson was ripe then but no one knew it. So in 1907 Johnson went back to Weiser, Idaho, and received $150 a month for pitching independent ball.

He had acquired a wonderful "hop" on his fast ball, and a curve, and with these two bafflers began averaging twelve strike-outs to a game.

During the latter part of July Blankenship, then a National, heard about this big, strong, husky lad, who was king of the western semi-pro pitchers, and visited Weiser. Blankenships main object of the trip was to buy Clyde Milan from Wichita.

Johnson became the property of the Washington club the latter part of July, 1907. On Aug. 2, 1914, seven years will have elapsed since Walter Perry Johnson first stepped his foot inside the Georgia avenue grounds.

FRANK CHANCE OFFERS LOT OF ADVICE TO PLAYERS WHO WANT TO SUCCEED IN BASEBALL.

Houston, Tex., March 13.—Frank Chance, famous manager of the championship Cubs and present pilot of the New York Yankees in training here, believes the plan for boosting amateur baseball is the finest and surest way to boost the great American game.

"The amateurs, the fellows on corner lots are the fellows who really make the game and I'm for them strong," Chance said when the plans for amateur championship tournaments were explained to him.

"They fill up the gaps in professional ranks and unless they are encouraged to play ball the big leagues will run out of players soon. And if the amateurs don't play professional ball, they make professional fans. Now you know the success of baseball depends as much upon the fans as it does upon the players."

The $25,000 a-year manager tells what his long and brilliant career as a major league player and manager has taught him are the essential qualities in an amateur as well as a professional player.

"Clean living is the first essential for a ball player," was Chance's first solid smash. "Be moderate in your smoking, don't drink and go to bed early.

"Get all the education you can. That is as necessary for a ball player as for a doctor or lawyer. The best students make the best ball players.

"Natural ability is a most valuable asset for a ball player. Few players without natural ability ever develop into professionals and those with it are the sure stars in whatever company they play.

"Ability to bat is worth everything to a ball player. Good hitters are born, seldom developed. Often right-hand batters improve by changing to the other side of the plate. A good eye and nerve to stand up to the plate in the face of speedy pitching are sure signs of a man's ability to bat.

"Have the knack of meeting the ball at just the right angle. A batter must watch the whole game and remember the style of each pitcher and all the fielders.

"Practice, practice, practice and any boy with normal ability can learn to be a good fielder. Baseball is like any other avocation in life. It takes continual work to become expert at it. A fielder must figure out what he is going to do with the ball before it is hit to him. He must make each possible play before the ball is hit. A second guess after he has the ball in his hands is fatal.

"A sound body, a keen mind, all round natural ability, power as a hitter and deftness as a fielder will avail a ball player, amateur or professional, nothing unless he is willing to do his part toward perfecting team work.

"Individual stars who ignore the other eight men on the team are worse than worthless. They are disorganizers. Every player must work in harmony with every other player on the team. Baseball is full of examples of how nine men of ordinary ability have outplayed teams with more individual ability because they perfected their team work and played to win regardless of individual averages."

UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD

Frank Chance

THE "PEERLESS LEADER" HAS TWO FACES—ON THE FIELD, ALL ACTION; OFF THE DIAMOND, ALL REPOSE.

FRANK CHANCE'S "DON'TS".

"To any boy who wants to become a better ball player, I want to say DON'T:—

"Get the swelled head.

"Quit trying until the last man is out.

"Bat cross handed.

"Slide head first.

"Throw your hardest until you are warmed up and never throw your hardest unless you have to. It is just as well to throw a man out by three feet as to throw him out fifteen feet.

"Sulk and quarrel with the umpire.

"Forget that baseball, like anything else, that is worth doing at all, is worth doing well."

LEGAL VICTORY DIDN'T WIN.

Packey McFarland

©PAUL THOMPSON

Packey McFarland is learning that a legal victory does not always cop the purse. Appealing to the courts against the decision of the Wisconsin athletic commission, suspending him a year ago, he won. However, the commission, which the court said had fouled, simply delivered the punch in a more technical way, and Packey will not fight in Wisconsin for a year.

BIG BOUT PAID WELL.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 13.—Receipts of last night's bout between Lightweight Champion Ritchie and Ad Wolgast amounted to $39,805, according to a statement today by Manning Vaughn, secretary of the Wisconsin state boxing commission. Forty per cent. of this amount, or $15,922, went to Ritchie, Wolgast received $11,941, 30 per cent., and the promoters divided $9,952. Vaughn said. The commission received $1,990.

The contract for the fight provided that Ritchie could receive 40 per cent. of the receipts and Wolgast 30, or that Wolgast could receive 70 per cent. of the total receipts out of which he would have to pay Ritchie $10,000. The champion chose the 40 per cent.

WHAT SPORT WRITERS THINK OF THE WOLGAST-RITCHIE GO.

(By Charles Michelson, of Chicago Examiner.)

Champion Ritchie is still champion. Ex-Champion Wolgast is still ex, but not more so than he was before tonight's fight. It was a merry, rough battle from the first blow to the last bell, a struggle between a wildcat and a buffalo, wherein the cat could not cut the buffalo hide and the bull could not reach the cat to toss him.

It was as unsatisfactory an exhibition as could be imagined from the standpoint of a man who sincerely cares for boxing and was not wholly satisfying to his gory minded fellow club members.

However, as an excuse and incitement to another battle, it was without fault or blemish.

A presidential convention may be more important than the event of the evening in Milwaukee, but you couldn't convince any member of the congregation assembled here of it.

(By Billy Birch, of the Chicago Record-Herald.)

Champion and ex-champion met before the largest crowd that ever saw a ten-round bout at Milwaukee's spacious auditorium here tonight, and the status of Willie Ritchie, acknowledged lightweight "boss" of the world, and Ad Wolgast, credited by all as being his nearest rival, remains the same. The bout was a draw, and a twenty-round bout will be required to settle the supremacy, for they probably could fight thirty minutes every evening in the week and the result would be unchanged.

It was a see-saw battle. In the early periods there was no doubt but Wolgast had an edge so big that the spectators made the Dutchman a favorite on his showing in the first four stanzas in the seventh Ritchie took a commanding lead because he dropped Ad to one knee with a blow to the stomach, and just when it looked as though the champion would hold his laurels that fighting machine of a Wolgast spurted with all the viciousness of a wildcat and earned a draw.

(By Sol Plex, of Chicago Examiner.)

Ad Wolgast failed to get his revenge. The Cadillac Dutchman was outfought by Lightweight Champion Willie Ritchie during the ten rounds of fighting tonight in the Auditorium ring before the banner crowd in Milwaukee's boxing history. The Californian won, but not by a wide margin. He did not even convince those present that he would surely be the better man in a long fight, for Wolgast was after him viciously and madly in the last round, and left the ring without a mark on face or body.

The contest was won and lost through a dramatic occurrence in the seventh round. The men were fighting along viciously, head to head, when Ritchie suddenly uncorked two right swings to the Wolgast stomach. With the third of the second padded fist on his body the Michigan Dutchman backed away and sank to the floor, holding his hand over his groin. He looked up at Referee Stout with an expression of pain on his face, and asked that he be awarded the bout on a foul.

Ritchie was between Stout and the fallen Wolgast and backed away to his corner, the while protesting that he had not struck low. Stout rushed over to Wolgast, refused to allow his claim and ordered hi nito get up and continue the fight. Here Stout proved his ability as a ring officer. He believed that Ritchie's blows landed above the belt and he said so without hesitation. Wolgast got up, apparently unhurt, and fought back wickedly during the rest of the round.

(By Walter H. Eckersall, of Chicago Tribune.)

Willie Ritchie, world's lightweight champion, gave Ad Wolgast the lacing of his life in the ring of the Queensbury Athletic club tonight when he battered the Michigan "hearcat" to defeat after ten rounds of furious milling. Wolgast's stamina was all that enabled him to last the ten rounds, for from the fifth round on he was outfought and outpunished badly.

It was one of the greatest battles that ever have been staged in a Milwaukee ring. From the first gong both boys went into action and at no time was there any "stalling." It can be said for Wolgast that he put up a good fight for half the route, but after that it was all Ritchie. The farther the champion went the better he got, and when the final gong sounded it certainly was a welcome sound to the ears of the Michigander.

Ritchie did most of his damaging execution with a right cross and in the seventh round he sent Wolgast to the floor, where he remained for the count of five. In this round Wolgast complained of the rough tactics and claimed that he had been fouled, but the referee would not allow it.

GILPIN ON CITY HEALTH.

Health Board Secretary Speaks at Commercial Club.

Speaking at the regular monthly meeting of the Commercial club Thursday evening, Dr. John H. Gilpin, secretary of the city board of health told of health conditions in Fort Wayne and advocated an ordinance requiring the housewives to drain and wrap the garbage collections each day, not only as a prevention of disease but as an aid to the disposal of garbage at the city crematory.

The "swat the fly" campaign was also discussed and Dr. Gilpin said that the solution of the fly problem lies largely in cleanliness. In closing he said that efforts will be made within due course of time to have reasonable ordinances passed covering the health situation of Fort Wayne.

FOR THE STOMACH AND LIVER.

I. N. Stuart, West Webster, N. Y., writes: "I have used Chamberlain's Tablets for disorders of the stomach and liver off and on for the past five years, and it affords me pleasure to state that I have found them to be just as represented. They are mild in their action and the results have been satisfactory. I value them highly." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

FOREIGNERS ARE SIGNED TO RACE

Speedway Contracts All in and Plans Made for the Sailing.

TIME FOR PRACTICE

Indianapolis, March 13.—Signed contracts with all of the foreigners who recently cabled their entries to the next 500 mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway, are now in the race course safe. Boillot, Goux, Chassagne, Guyot and Christiaens have all affixed their signatures to sweepstakes paper, and are thus lined up for keeps.

The Europeans plan to come over in a body, sailing from Havre on the Provence about May 9, and reaching Indianapolis May 16 or 17. Most of them will get to work on their cars immediately, even putting up in cottages at the track, in order to be near their work. Goux and Boillot, however, seemingly confident that their machines need no further attention, have arranged to stay downtown.

Arrangements are being made both in New York and Indianapolis to give the visitors a rousing reception. In New York a number of their compatriots will meet them as last year, while here the whole town is expected to turn out. W. F. Bradley, the foreign speedway representative, is expected to accompany the party as guide and interpreter, also as business agent and watch dog.

The cars of the outfit will be shipped simultaneously with the drivers. They will be accompanied by the various mechanicians, so that they will be under guard all the way. The European is as careful of his machine as he would be of a baby. Not the slightst chance of harm, either accidental or designed, is permitted to approach it.

In general, the foreign machines are much smaller and lighter than last year, averaging roughly 350 cubic inches piston displacement and 2,000 pounds in weight. The only notable exception as regards motor dimensions, is the Excelsior of Christiaens, whose firing chamber measures 446.6. Even this car, however, weighs well within the one ton limit, being built unusually light for its power.

The baby of the outfit is the Sunbeam, with six cylinders of a bore of 3.14 and a stroke of 5.9. The total piston displacement of this car is only 17,245 cubic inches, not much more than that of the average domestic runabout, yet it is capable of speeds up to and in excess of 100 miles an hour. The Peugots and the Delage can hit 110 with ease. It is not thought that they will have much advantage over the Sunbeam, however, because of the latter's noted consistency. The Excelsior is expected to travel along with the best of them, knocking off 100 miles an hour on the average. With such speed being developed right along, it is predicted that all present speedway records will surely take a drop.

SERVICES AT SYNAGOGUE.

The usual services will be held at the synagogue, corner of Harrison and Wayne streets at 7:45 o'clock this evening. Rabbi Meyer Lovitch will give an address on "Esther, the Jewess in the Role of Woman in Jewish History and Religion."

MILLER CAN NOT ENTER THE GAME

Saints Will Be Without His Services in Game Tonight.

RITTER TO REFEREE

Charley Horse has decreed that Miller shall not play tonight at forward for St. Mary's Athletic club, which has an important scrap booked with Concordia college, and when he promulgated an edict against an athlete he has a most impressive style of insuring that his subjects will obey.

Right down to the last minute it was hoped that the player would be able to get into the fracas but that game leg of his was still game last night with no prospect that any of the gameness would leave in time for the bout so he has been shelved and the same crowd that tore right through the student body in the last exhibition will try to do the same thing again.

Of course, the student body does not think this can be done and it is just this wide divergence of opinion on the subject that launched the series and that is responsible for a tie at one each, which necessitates the game of tonight. College athletes in all lines go into combat with the feeling that winning or losing is not a personal matter but that the prowess of the schools they represent is the vital issue and this spurs them on to combat.

It is believed that the collegians will enter the game in better shape than they have been able to work up at any time this season and it is regarded as the most important engagement booked all year. This will be the final appearance for the season against any city team in a series.

Tom Harkenrider will play forward in place of Miller and his pards believe he will be just as efficient as he was the last time the two teams met. There has been a big advance sale of tickets and St. Paul's auditorium will be crowded during the game.

Harshman suffered an attack of rheumatism after he had been agreed upon as referee and his place on the floor will be taken by Prof. Jacob Ritter, director of manual training in the Fort Wayne high school, whose work has been eminently satisfactory here.

For the benefit of those who want to attend Lenten services before the game the battle will not be started until 9 o'clock.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, March 13.—Prospect of liberal world shipments had a bearish influence today on wheat. Opening prices were ¼c to ⅝c lower, and but little reaction followed.

The close was steady at ⅛c to ¼c net advance.

Corn developed firmness on account of rural offerings being small. Prices opened unchanged to ⅛c off, and then gradually hardened.

The close was steady, ½c to ⅝c over last night.

Sympathy with corn steadied oats.

Higher prices for hogs were reflected in the provision market.

Divorcee Gives Dinner for Divorcees—Liberty Bell Feature of Feast.

Mrs. Frances Estelle Wyburn, divorcee who celebrated the obtaining of her decree with a divorce dinner.

San Francisco, Cal., March 13.—"Do come, please. We'll have no horried married persons and no silly single persons to annoy us. Just bring your divorce decree and show it to the man at the door and he'll bring you right in."

Such was the telephone invitation extended by Mrs. Frances Estelle Wyburn to a "Freedom Dinner" here recently to which only divorcees were invited to celebrate the granting of her divorce at Reno from Walter M. Wyburn, an insurance broker of New York city.

Liberty bells were conspicuous in all the decorations, even the dinner favors being made in this form, and a sugared replica of the Reno courthouse, the famous "Divorce Mill," constituted the centerpiece for the dinner table.

Souvenir photographs of Nat Goodwin and all his wives were distributed to the guests.

The feature of the dinner was that it was served in divorced courses, each dish separate from the other, and the last thing on the menu was an "alimony salad," so-called because it doesn't arrive until long after due.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 13.—Trading was abnormally dull at the opening today and prices of the leaders barely varied from yesterday's close. The widest movement was in Louisville, which lost 1¼ points. Canadian Pacific declined 1⅝ to 203½, the lowest price since 1911. Rock Island went to four, a new low record.

Despite sharp declines in various issues in the early trading, it was apparent that no large volume of stocks was pressing for sale, and the steadiness of the speculative leaders encouraged bullish traders to begin active operations. The shorts retreated and under the influence of buying for both accounts prices were marked up in striking fashion. All of the important shares gained a point or more before the buying slackened. Bonds were irregular.

DAILY MARKET LETTER.

(Furnished by J. S. Phillips, North American Building, Fort Wayne, Ind.)

Chicago, March 13.—Grain news of today is mainly unchanged. Features of the week concern heaviness of foreign wheat markets, slow demand for export wheat and a big drop of 15 per cent. in western hog receipts as compared with last week and last year. Last year world's shipments of wheat for the week are liberal at near 13,000,000 bushels—North America 8,700,000, Australia 2,700,000, Argentine 1,700,000.

Chicago corn receipts are dropping 175 cars, estimated. Argentine corn surplus again figured 240,000,000 in a cable. Modern Miller report suggests a record winter wheat crop with smallest abandoned acreage ever known. Local bears very quiet in all grains; shorts bought provisions. About 40,000 corn exported today on old sales. No new business; sales of stocks to 1 p. m. 168,000. Advance of C. O. to 53½ on buying by shorts a feature. Prices of stocks at 2:45 p. m. as follows:

Atchison, 96½; American Sugar, 99⅜; B. & O., 85¾; B. R. T., 92¾; C. & O., 53; Canadian Pacific, 205½; Erie, 28¾; Great Northern, 127½; Illinois Central, 100; Missouri Pacific, 11¾; Norfolk, 103⅝; New York Central, 90⅜; Pennsylvania, 110¾; Reading, 165½; Rock Island common, 4½; Rock Island preferred, 66⅝; St. Paul, 98½; Southern Pacific, 94; New Haven, 69⅞; Union Pacific, 157⅝; U. S. Steel, 64.

The market closed firm. Bull speculators were content to maintain the list around the earlier high prices and not force further reduction of the short interest. Speculation flattened out toward the end.

SAVED BY PAPER.

San Francisco, March 13.—The discovery by a farmer that paper drinking cups placed over young canteloupe plants furnished admirable protection from the severe weather is said to be largely responsible for the bumper crop the Imperial Valley expects to produce this season. The crop, which will be shipped to market this year, is estimated at 1,435,500 crates which will require 5,000 cars to move.

CURRENTS STEAL BODIES.

Strange, Fierce Tides Sweep About Wreck of Ship.

Washington, March 13. - All the bodies which sunk with the Old Dominion liner Monroe when she was rammed by the Merchants' and Miners' ship Nantucket off the Virginia coast on January 30, have been swept out of the wreck by a strong submarine current.

Divers having nearly 200 additional pounds of lead on their equipment have found it impossible to remain on their feet in the strange fierce current which sweeps about the wreck. Forty-three lives were lost in the collision. How many of those went down in the imprisoned ship is not known but there is hope of recovering some bodies. The cargo may be recovered.

Superfluous Hair Disappears Like Magic

New Wonder Makes It Unnecessary to Use Dangerous Disfiguring Electric Needle or Burning Pastes, Powders or Liquids

Every woman in this vicinity who suffers the deep humiliation and embarrassment of superfluous hair and who has used any or all of the worthless advertised depilatories in a frantic search for lasting relief, will rejoice to learn that an entirely new method has been found which quickly and painlessly eradicates all signs of ugly repulsive hair growths and produces positive, complete and certain results in every instance. This remarkable master stroke of modern chemistry can now be obtained by sufferers through the enterprise of a well known woman who succeeded in permanently removing every trace of her own hairy growths after all else had failed. In her honor it is called Mrs. Osgood's Wonder. It is the only effective eradicator that never fails to remove all signs of superfluous hair smoothly and painlessly and without injury to the skin or complexion. In a surprisingly large number of cases it has succeeded in killing the hair roots, source of all growth, so that it has never returned.

Meyer Bros. Drug Stores have been fortunate in securing a supply of Mrs. Osgood's Wonder which you can secure on the guarantee of money back if it fails; or any other up-to-date drug or department store can supply you or get it for you. Ask for it by name, Mrs. Osgood's Wonder. A signed guarantee comes with every package, but do not forget that while there is no danger of applying this amazing discovery to even the most sensitive skin, it should not be used except where total destruction of the hair wherever applied is desired.

Mrs. Clara Butt Is Making Concert Tour of the United States, Accompanied by Her Family.

Mrs. Clara Butt, celebrated prima donna, and her family. Mrs. Butt's husband, Kennerly Rumford, is also a singer—a baritone. Mrs. Butt is seated while her husband stands behind her. The children, from left to right, are: Victor, Roy and Joy. Mrs. Butt, in company with her husband, arrived here recently from the Antipodes and is on a concert tour through the United States. The Rumfords are English. The famous prima donna set the American women agog by stating that they were a year behind the fashion in their dress, asserting that she saw the same styles displayed by the women of Paris more than a year ago.

NO MONEY YET HE FEEDS HUNDREDS

Mission Worker Never Sure Where Day's Supply Will Come

FOR DESTITUTE MEN

Duluth, March 13.—The old time miracle of the loaves and fishes is in another form, having a modern counterpart in Duluth today—and through the activities of one man from 125 to 175 hungry people are being fed, with food for body and soul, as the multitudes were nourished of old.

If you "drop into" the Dutch Gospel mission at No. 102 Lake avenue south any time from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until noon, you will find an audience made up of the "drifters" the flotsam and jetsam of life that comes in the surface today and is gone tomorrow listening to the story of him who was the friend of the "down-and-outer." After the service tickets for dinner are distributed, and the Rev. F. E. Plum turns from the ministry of sick souls to the equally urgent ministry of hungry bodies.

The holders of tickets go downstairs and if you follow them you come, at the end of a two-flight journey, to a big room, the counterpart in size of the mission hall above. At one end are ranges and cooking apparatus with the steam from soup hovering above them; the room is filled with the long tables, lined with men busy over their plates of hot vegetable soup. Bread and buttermilk accompany the dinner, and the men can have all they want to eat.

It is a curious sight this—the feeding of the multitude by a man without money, but with a strong faith in God and in his call to look after just these folks; a man who has fathomed the philosophy which recognizes man's vital need for friendship.

Better in Combination.

It's of little use to tell a hungry man about the Lord's love for him unless you can back it up with evidence—that's where the Duluth Gospel mission gets in the strong work. If a man wants to do the right thing, if he wants to take a fresh chance at the game of life, where he's lost out before—maybe once, maybe many times—the mission will help him on his feet, help to get him employment, help him tide over the dark "between time."

Giving dinners to the men who needed food was begun at the mission on Thanksgiving day. During December 2,003 meals were served. The daily attendance ran from 125 to 175. After the heavy snows came and the men got employment on the streets, the number dropped for several days to less than ten, showing that some of the men were willing to work when given a chance.

A majority of those who find their way to the mission are woodsmen—men who are, for various reasons, many times their fault—sometimes not stranded. They hear about it, too, in words that are not uncertain.

"If you're going to keep giving your money to the saloons and breweries, you'll continue to be no account and no good," the earnest minister admonishes his hearers, telling them of the good friend who stands ready to help the man who wants to help himself. And the best of it is that many of them, before they leave the little mission, resolve to part company with King Booze and try the straight road.

Where the Food Comes From.

Whence comes the materials to provide these 2,003 meals? From many sources. The wholesale houses give Rev. Mr. Plum damaged and spotted vegetables that can not be put on the markets. One meat market proprietor who learned of the work being done, gives fifty pounds of beef bones a day for the soup. The bakeries donate bread that has passed the one-day limit of freshness. Men who have been converted in the mission meetings have volunteered their services in preparing the meals.

There have been contributions made by men who have heard of the work being done and gone to see it for themselves. And back of it all is the cheery optimism of the missionary and his wife who—although they wouldn't tell you this themselves—sold their own household effects to secure the money necessary to bring them to their chosen field of work.

"I lost my respectability a long time ago, praise God," said the Rev. Mr. Plum. "Dishes weren't always forthcoming when we first started giving meals, so I used to pick up cans in the alleys that we cleaned and used for cooking purposes."

There doesn't seem to be any way of keeping down or discouraging that kind of faith, and the results beginning to show are making a lot of people do some serious thinking. Many quietly give Rev. Mr. Plum's project some of the material help he can use—the other kind of help he gets from the source that started him at work.

FOR THE THIN AND SCRAWNY

Samose Will Make You Plump and Rosy, Says Meyer Bros. Co.

If you are getting thin, you are sick, although you may not know it. If you are losing weight steadily, there is something wrong that needs looking after. If you have always been thin it doesn't follow that you are sick, but you may not be healthy. You cannot be strong if you are thin.

Try then to be healthy and plump; it it not difficult if you know how.

The only way to increase the weight and gain health and flesh is by using Samose, the standard flesh forming food and tissue builder. It mingles with the food you eat and is assimilated so that all the flesh forming and tissue building elements of the food are retained in the system. This explains the great value of Samose.

Fatness, happiness and health they all go together. How seldom you see a fat person who is not happy. On the other hand, thin people are unhappy and nervous. Use Samose and be well and fat and happy.—Adv.

AVIATOR LOSES INSURANCE.

Court Cuts Down Award From $2,314 to $38.51.

New York, Mch. 13.—Flying in airships is a "hazardous undertaking" from the accident and life insurance company's point of view, according to an opinion given by the appellate division of the supreme court. The case in which this decision was reached was that of Albert N. Ridgeley, an aviator, who, while flying here in an aeroplane last July, was injured, and then brought suit under an accident and life insurance policy, recovering $2,314. The company appealed, and the complainant's award was reduced to $38.51. The defense argued that Ridgeley had failed to say in his application for insurance that he was about to engage in a perilous undertaking. He had given his occupation as writer.

MEN OF NATIONAL FAME ARE COMING

Business Men Plan for Another Waterway Convention

HERE NEXT SUMMER

Fort Wayne is to have another deep waterway convention next summer and plans for the meeting were discussed in a preliminary manner this afternoon by a crowd of nearly 100 business men who met at the Commercial club at the invitation of Secretary Charles L. Biederwolf.

The meeting followed a report that cities in this part of the state doubt the sincerity of Fort Wayne's interest in the proposed lake-to-lake canal and the consensus of opinion passed at the meeting intimated that as a whole, the people of this city have not exhibited the proper amount of enthusiasm concerning the waterway.

Perry A. Randall, president of the Fort Wayne Deep Waterway association, stated that he has been in communication with some of the most prominent men of the United States interested in waterways, and that many of them, including Senator Burton, have signified their willingness to attend and address the convention to be held next summer. Men will come from all of the principal cities, and prominent among those who have enthusiastically replied to Mr. Randall's letters are some of the New York state officials.

Mr. Randall intends to address the annual meeting of the New York Waterways association, and he will at that time extend an invitation to all delegates to attend the Fort Wayne meeting. Later he is to deliver a thirty-minute address before the Chicago Rivers and Harbors association, and a similar invitation will be extended to members of that body. It is planned to conduct a publicity campaign for the purpose of creating interest in the convention, and by mid-summer it is believed that enough enthusiasm over the project will have been aroused to make the convention one of the largest inland waterway meetings ever held in the United States.

Those who attended the meeting this afternoon also took up the question of financing the convention and the work leading up to it. A definite plan for securing sufficient funds will be announced within a short time.

Logan Gets Letter.

S. A. Thompson, secretary of the National Rivers and Harbors congress, has written to Thomas J. Logan, secretary of the Fort Wayne Deep Waterway association, asking him to attempt to bring about some action on the part of the members regarding the request of President Wilson that the Panama canal toll exemption act be repealed.

Mr. Logan states that no action will be taken by the Fort Wayne organization. One reason is because it would be putting the association on record in a political stand, a thing that has heretofore been entirely avoided, and another because it is impossible to get such an organization to cast an unanimous vote either for or against canal toll for American coastwise commerce.

THE NEW UTILITY OR NOVELTY COATS

It is hard to know which to call them, they are so practical and, at the same time, so odd. The fabrics are apt to be the new gabardines, eponges, tweeds and soft, coarse weaves, with striking colors or checks in them and in more or less striking colors. Sometimes the dash of color comes in the shape of a gray lining and sleeve-puffs, or bright-colored buttons, or a lining of figured foulard or crepe.

The colors even are odd; vivid dark blues, the new greens and olives, and one sees them among the tweeds.

If the outsides are sober the insides are brilliant.

Very many of the coats suggest the paddock style. Others are belted. And a few long coats of navy or black diagonal and gabardine keep up the old tradition of simplicity and business-likeness.

FLOWERED COTTON CREPES PRETTIER THAN EVER

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms of diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Anxious Wife"—Give 10 to 15 drops of the following in water an hour before each meal and your child will soon be controlled from bedwetting: Comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; tincture cubebs, 1 dram, tincture rhus-aromatic, 2 drams.

"La Rue" writes: "For many years I have suffered with stomach and bowel trouble which has been caused by a severe case of catarrh. My blood is also in poor condition. What can be done for me?"

Answer: If you follow the directions given below you should be well and strong again. Obtain the following from any well stocked drug store and mix by shaking well, then take a teaspoonful four times daily: Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; fluid ext. buchu, 1 oz. Use in connection with this the following local treatment: Get a 2-oz. package of antiseptic vilane powder and make a catarrh balm by mixing one ounce of lard or vaseline with a level teaspoonful of the powder and use in the nostrils daily. Also make a wash of one pint of warm water and one-half teaspoonful of vilane powder and use two or three times a day until the nostrils are thoroughly cleansed and your trouble should soon be gone.

"Elsie M." writes: "I have such short, stringy, straggling hair and my scalp is full of dandruff. Please advise what to do."

Answer: The best advice I can offer is simple. Get at a well stocked drugstore a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minoyl, directions accompanying, and use it regularly. It promotes a healthy, vigorous growth of hair and abates dandruff, itching scalp, lustreless hair and stops falling hair. If the hair is harsh and straggling it restores a soft, fluffy appearance, and brings back the intense natural color.

"Hazelle" says: "I would certainly appreciate something that would increase my weight and take away that languid feeling which I am subject to most of the time. My blood is weak and watery and my appetite is poor."

Answer: Your condition is very easily overcome if you will follow the directions given below. Ask your druggist for 5-grain hypo-nuclane tablets and take according to the directions and your weight should increase. These tablets promote assimilation, absorption and aid digestion, transform the complexion and figure. They are prescribed by physicians and are perfectly good. They should be taken regularly for several months and you should depend upon gaining flesh and that languid feeling will vanish completely.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism, as that can be very easily controlled by using the following: Get at the drug store the ingredients named, mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at mealtime and again at bedtime and you should soon be entirely relieved of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; ½ oz. wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, and 6 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has satisfied thousands and I am sure it will you.

"Musician" asks: "Can you tell me how to overcome a bronchial trouble which manifests itself after singing by a tickling in the throat, hoarseness and a slight cough?"

Answer: Obtain a bottle of essence mentho-laxene and use it pure, or make into a cough syrup by mixing with ordinary granulated sugar syrup or honey. Directions for use and how to make accompany the package. It makes a full pint of effective, pleasant cough syrup and is excellent for all throat and bronchial trouble.

"Mrs. G. B." writes: "I suffer a great deal with stomach disorders—heavy feeling after eating, heart palpitation, wind and gas on stomach, etc. Am restless and irritable. Afraid to eat a hearty meal. Sometimes great pain. I fear appendicitis."

Answer: The neglect of constipation and indigestion is the most frequent cause of appendicitis. It is better to prevent than to cure by an operation. I advise that you obtain tablets triopeptine and take according to directions accompanying sealed carton. They are pink, white and blue, to be taken morning, noon and night, respectively. I think many cases of appendicitis could be prevented by using triopeptine intelligently.

"Candid" writes: "Can you advise me how to cure a very bad case of nervous breakdown? I am easily startled, irritated or worried. Have aching in back of neck, dizzy spells and seem wholly unable to get strong and energetic as I was at one time. Cold hands and feet bother me, too."

Answer: A good vitalizing tonic such as three-grain cadomene tablets is advised. Splendid effects are obtained by hundreds from this treatment.

"K. K. K." asks: "I am growing more stout as a get older and weigh 60 pounds too much now. I am alarmed and want to reduce. Please advise what to take."

Answer: You need not be alarmed if you will begin taking 5-grain arbolene tablets. These tablets reduce usually at the rate of a pound a day after the first few days. Any druggist can supply them in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Poor H." writes: "My health is very poor on account of a long-standing constipation. I have to use pills or something all the time. Can you prescribe something to take that will cure chronic constipation?"

Answer: Constipation is probably the cause of more illness than any other thing. Most remedies only aggravate the trouble and never cure. I always prescribe 3-grain sulphorb tablets (not sulphur tablets), and have found them most reliable and gradually curative. They act pleasantly and tone up the bowels and liver while purifying the blood.

Mrs. Jewel C. writes: "My husband is sorely afflicted with some kidney disease. He has become weak and suffers with headache and pains in his back and groins. Pains are like rheumatism. His ankles swell and his feet seem to be tired all the time. Some days he has chills and no appetite. Please prescribe."

Answer: The symptoms indicate derangement of kidneys, and should not be neglected. I would advise balmwort tablets, a compound well suited to such cases. Obtain in sealed tubes with directions for home use.

Both Columbia and Peru are competitors of Ecuador in the manufacture of Panama hats, though Ecuador has the advantage of being the sole producer, so far as is known, of the best grade of "toquilla," the straw or grass from which the hats are made.

LAND WAS FORCED UPON THE REDMEN

Creeks Who Followed Crazy Snake in Rebellion Now Wealthy.

MILLIONS FROM OIL

Guthrie, Okla., March 13. There are numerous incidents all over the old regions of Oklahoma connected with suddenly acquired fortunes which sound more like the Aragian Nights and the tale about Alladin and his wonderful lamp than they do about the real, matter-of-fact occurrences among real people who can show the real cash in hand. Years ago the world was astonished over the stories of one or two characteristic Coal Oil Johnnies, but today these fabulously rich oil operators are becoming almost too numerous to number. And many of these suddenly acquired fortunes are coming to those who were unknown in the business world. In fact, a great number to persons who never before could boast of more than a few dollars at a time in their lives.

In the more recently developed Cushing oil field the land is very poor; too poor to induce even hungry former land hunters to buy it from the government at $1.25 per acre plus the entry fee. This field is located in the north end of the lands of the Creek nation, and during the work of the allotting commission all the members of that tribe who were willing to take their land in severally selected allotment plan or who were in different parts of the Creek country, leaving all this undesirable section to be later arbitrarily allotted to those who were opposed to the allotment plan or who were indifferent about the matter. Thus it happened that when the commission reached the obstinate clan of Snake Indians, or towns, under the famous old clan chief, Crazy Snake, all the good lands had been selected.

Enemies of Government Win.

The Indians of the Snake clan were mostly full-bloods and were viciously opposed to any scheme which in any degree recognized or tolerated the government of the white man. They not only refused to recognize the allotment commission, but when the attempt was made to arbitrarily allot them any land they started what is in history known as the Crazy Snake war. Thus it was that nearly all this poor land around Cushing was listed in the record as the "forced allotments" to the members of old Crazy Snake's band, and those of other towns who were in active sympathy with them.

It has heretofore been claimed that the Osages were the wealthiest tribe of Indians in this country, and the oil development in the Osage country has added immensely to their great wealth. But the present indications are that the Creeks will soon lead them. The difference being that all Osages share alike in their wealth, while it is largely the individual members of the Creek tribe who are becoming fabulously rich. The Osages have spent a half century in frugality; have been shrewd and close in their treaties and deals with Uncle Sam; have never drawn all their interest even from the great Osage fund which the government holds in trust for them; have been good farmers and have made profitable leases with their tenants. But their more indifferent neighbors are outstripping them in the race for great wealth, and it is without any of the usual elements of mad excitement which usually go with such incidents.

There is living near Creekola a little 10-year-old girl, whose grandfather was a slave for some of the nabob families of the Creek nation before the war. She has more Indian than negro blood in her veins. She is today able to discount the salary of President Wilson at least twice over. She is listed on the freedmen roll of the tribe and the commission gave her 160 acres over near Cushing. She has never even seen the land. But B. B. Jones secured a lease and went to work and the first well he put down proved one of the greatest gushers in the mid-continent field, and while this one gives her an income of $112,000 a year, Jones is going after other gushers on her land and when he has it fully developed she will be among the most wealthy women of the world.

On one of the back streets in Muskogee is a little shop of a Syrian peddler, who with his wife drove an old horse and a peddler's cart into town a few years ago. He began working that country and saving every dollar he could. His great ambition was to become the owner of a little land. His scant savings would permit him to look only at the very poorest, and he finally got hold of an 80-acre piece among the hills and gulches over east of Cushing, paying $1.50 per acre. But today, with only two completed wells, he is receiving a royalty of $10,800 a month. When his little piece of rough land is fully developed he can take his helpmate back and buy out the whole of his native village.

But the sudden wealth coming to people in the oil regions was not entirely accidental. There are many there who had some and who butted into the game with premeditation and malice aforethought. A few months ago Miss Rosella Flannagan was earning her $15 per as a modest, unassuming stenographer in an oil broker's office. But she suddenly developed a determination to get into the game herself, and her carefully planned small investments proved profitable. These gave her courage and self-confidence and others were made. The result has been that her carefully worked out plans brought her other successes, and today she cannot estimate just what her holdings are worth. Yet she takes her good fortune with due modesty and is still holding that $15 job.

George Robinson is one of the few who deliberately "invested" money to the limit with a view of making more out of the game. He played against the hardest luck for a long time and had sunk his last dollar in dry holes till in a last desperate chance he started a wildcat over near Wann, clear out of the known territory, and he struck it rich. Now he is on the easy and sure road to great things. His first well on the wildcat lease was a gusher of 200 barrels and he has millions more to follow.

In many instances the interior department has approved oil leases on lands where the allotee is indifferent and refuses to do anything about the matter, as in the case of some of the "forced allotments" of the Snake clan of Creeks. But since the oil wells on their allotments have been flowing, large amounts of royalty have been deposited to their credit in the banks, and they are now beginning to realize just a little what it all means, and they are gradually modifying their sentiments and actions. Some of these Indians are unable to fully realize the immensity of the proposition, but they are certainly acquiring knowledge very rapidly, and their new experiences and environments may have a great influence over their actions in the future. Old Chief Crazy Snake is away; some say in New Mexico, some declare he is dead. At any rate, he is not present to agitate and organize another Snake rebellion over these new conditions.

E. L. Philion, of Auburn, Me., believes he has the oldest letter in his state. It was written in 1757, 157 years ago, and the ink is still plain and easily legible. The letter is one of several, all of which are at least 150 years old.

Soda Relieves Indigestion or Acid Stomach

Few Stomach sufferers know that Indigestion, Sourness and Gases are not caused by a lack of digestive juices, but result always from acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Everything eaten sours in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we get a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we belch gas and eructate food or have heartburn, water-brash, bloating and nausea.

A well-known authority states that a 10 grain Sodagen tablet taken anytime, followed by a tumbler of water instantly neutralizes these stomach acids; stops fermentation, absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive tract. He says any pharmacist can supply a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets as they are constantly prescribed for stomach acidity because of their harmlessness to the digestive organs, being composed of Soda, Calcium Carbonate and Magnesia U. "Dustless" Vacuum Carpet Cleaner and SWEEPER

Worth $25 Price to Introduce $8.10

Ballbearing Operated just like a carpet sweeper as illustrated, to which it is in every way superior. Easy to operate, practical and durable.

It is doing daily duty, in thousands of homes—housewives in all parts of the world are using its powerful suction to keep their homes free from dust.

Many housewives are really startled to see the amount of dirt it removes from carpets and rugs which look clean to them—which they thought were clean.

The "Dustless" Vacuum Cleaner requires no electricity, no hand pumping; you simply run it over the floor like a carpet sweeper and the turning of the wheels creates a vacuum which draws all the dust, dirt, germs, moths, etc., from on top and beneath carpets and rugs into a bag inside the sweeper. Thus you actually get rid of the dust instead of stirring it up to breathe or settle again.

With the broom woman fights dirt and dust which is breathed into the lungs and dust is the chief cause of lung disease, especially pneumonia and tuberculosis.

It is dangerous for a child to creep or play on a carpet or rug that is not Vacuum cleaned—because he is right down amongst the bugs and bacteria.

All disease has a cause. You can sidestep the cause and elude disease, if you keep your floors free from death-dealing bacteria and microbes by the use of our "Dustless" Vacuum Cleaner.

SPECIAL PRICE—FREE TRIAL—To any of the first 15 women in your city who send us $8.10 and the names and addresses of 10 housewives you believe would be interested in the purchase of our Vacuum Cleaner, we will ship one machine prepaid and allow you 15 DAYS FREE TRIAL. If the cleaner is not entirely satisfactory return it to us within 15 days at our expense and we will gladly refund your money.

INDIAN GIRL BUT DIDN'T LOOK IT

LOOKED FOR BLANKET

Omaha, March 13.—Something of the vast change that has taken place in recent years in the condition of the western Indian can be noted in an experience of a little Nez Perce Indian girl and Louis Beindorff, city passenger agent of the Union Pacific railroad at Omaha. For years it has been the custom of the Union Pacific to send its agents to the big union station along its line to look for those passengers who are unused to travel. Beindorff was notified to go to the Union station in Omaha and see that Marie Leslieur, a 17-year-old Nez Perce Indian from Ross Fork, Idaho, made her change of trains at this point.

When the train arrived Beindorff was on hand. He looked for a girl wrapped in a blanket with a feather in her hair and two long braids. But he didn't find one. When all the passengers had left the train he appealed to the conductor.

"Not an Indian aboard," answered that official. "There's a ticket to Ross Fork, Idaho. It came from the Pullman."

The Pullman conductor was appealed to. "No Injuns," he said. "There was a girl with a Ross Fork ticket, though. She's in the depot. Come in and I'll show her to you."

Beindorff went with the Pullman man. "There she is," and he pointed to a black-haired young woman who stood at the ticket window.

"Beg your pardon, miss, but I believe you are the young woman I am looking for," said the railroader.

"Yes, I am," snapped the young Indian miss, "and I hoped you wouldn't find me. I've been tdying to dodge you ever since I got off the train," and Miss Lesieur stamped her foot.

"I—I'm sorry," stammered the astonished Beindorff. "W—w—what's the matter, m—m—may I ask?"

"Oh, you railroad men just bother one to death. Every time the train stops some of you come rushing in to see if you can't do something for one. Do I look as if I cannot take care of myself? Go 'way and let me alone, won't you?"

"Why," explained the surprised man. "All railroads try to take care of their passengers on long trips. I just wished to——"

"Nobody has to take care of me," responded the Indian maiden. "Where's the business part of this city and what car goes there? I'm going up there to do some shopping—and I want to go alone, too. Don't you dare follow me. I'm not going to be kidnapped, and when I get ready to come back to my train I can do so without your help or that of any other person. Now go and let me alone, please."

And she turned on the low heel of her "baby doll" shoes, displaying, as she did so, a slight slit in an up-to-date dress and made her way to the elevator, while Beindorff and the other railroaders stood around with mouths agape with astonishment.

Income from International Revenue Tax Shows Gain Over Last Year.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, March 13.—The income from internal revenue taxes, including whisky and tobacco products, is larger this year than last. Reports to the treasury show that for the fiscal year of 1914 up to March 7, the ordinary internal revenues amounted to $215,816,227.86, as compared with $213,021,059.22 for the corresponding period a year ago. The corporation tax income is also greater, being $1,438,659.85, for these nine months of the current fiscal year, as compared with $1,425,505.68 for the same period a year ago. On the other hand, customs receipts have dwindled. For the fiscal year of 1914, up to March 7, the revenues from customs amounted to $206,415,499.28, while for a similar period last year they were $228,294,758.66.

For some reason the ordinary disbursements of the current year are considerably greater than for last year. For instance, on ordinary pay warrants the government has disbursed during the fiscal year $171,653,802.99, as compared with $157,896,390.01 a year ago. The excess of disbursements over revenue receipts for this fiscal year to date is $25,429,554.88. Added to the previous deficit this amounts up to date to $49,435,215.80, as compared with a deficit a year ago for the same period of $16,887,250.51. The total amount expended on the Panama canal on purchase and construction up to date is $344,456,619.26.

At the white house it is suspected that former President Taft himself is responsible for the frequently printed stories in regard to his appointment on the supreme court bench. It is understood that Mr. Taft is not at all happy in his college duties and is constantly putting out broad hints that he would like the resignation of Justice White, Day, Holmes or others who are eligible for retirement. The public may be consoled with the thought that President Wilson has no idea of appointing Mr. Taft, even should any of these gentlemen retire, which they have no present intention of doing. The one thing which President Wilson might do to ruin his administration, as he well knows, is to put a reactionary like Taft on the supreme court bench.

What Mr. Brandeis calls "the vicious circle" in our economic system he described to the congressional committee framing trust legislation in this way:

"The bankers control the railroads and thus have been able to control the sale and issue of securities. Being bankers they bought those securities at a price which they had a part in fixing. They sold those securities as bankers to investment companies in which they were able to exercise some control as directors. They got the money with which to buy these securities through their control of the great banking institutions and then in their capacity of having control of the railroads they utilized that money to purchase from great corporations like the steel corporation what the railroads needed, and so on until we had the endless chain."

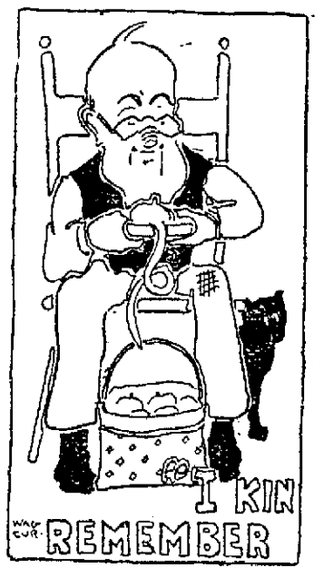
Public belief has been backed up by the solemnly declared opinion of a college president, namely, Prof. Charles R. Van Hise, of the University of Wisconsin, that the unscrambling of the tobacco and other trusts did not unscramble. Said Prof. Van Hise to a congressional committee:

"Up to the present time it can not be shown that any advantage has accrued to the public from the disintegration of such industrial organizations as the Standard Oil company, the American Tobacco company, etc. While the evidence is not wholly decisive its weight is rather that the public has suffered from their dissolution through increased prices."

UNCLE EPH. REMARKS:



"Dey's a heap o' sense," remarked Uncle Eph, "in de fact dat when a apple a day kep' th' doctor away an' a onion a day kep everybuddy away. Folks used t' live up t' their epitaphs."

MEET AFTER 35 YEARS.

Father and Son Thought Each Other Dead—United by Chance.

Winchester, Ind., March 13.—Eugene Tracey, car inspector, employed by the New York Central lines in the Union City yards, met his son, Charles Tracey, for the first time in thirty-five years, while at his daily vocation. The father and son were separated at Cedarville, Ohio, thirty-five years ago, and each thought the other dead.

One year ago the son went to work on a farm near Union City, and has since been employed there. In that time he has visited the city often, and, no doubt, had passed his father on the street. One morning last week the son brought a wagon loaded with tobacco to the Big Four freight house for shipment, and while there heard a railroad man address the father by name. This led to the identification.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

HEIRS CLAIM $10,000 IS MISSING.

Suit Comes to Trial in Warsaw on Charge That Trust Fund Is Not Intact.

Warsaw, Ind., March 13. Another interesting case is set for trial in the circuit court this week. In it are embodied many of the unusual features of the James Phillips case, wherein the heirs were seeking to recover a large amount of money claimed to have been appropriated by a grandchild.

The latest case is one in which Fremont Hart, Daniel Hart, Louisa Engle, Marietta Herrold, Anna S. Long, Orpha Morrett and Charles Jeffries, all heirs of John Hart, deceased, are suing James R. Hart, executor, for an accounting of a sum of money amounting to about $10,000, which, they allege, John Hart died possessed of and which was not inventoried in his estate by the executor.

It is alleged that on the death of his wife, twenty years ago, John Hart was left $10,000 in trust, and that "for a long time before his death his son, James Hart, meddled with the money."

Hart lived in Akron for many years and also on a farm between Mentone and Akron. Later he moved to Kosciusko county with his son, James, and remained with him until he died.

ADULTEROUS COUPLE PUNISHED.

Warsaw, Ind., March 13.—Mrs. Minnie Stevens, of Taylorville, Ill. and Onnidore Strunk, of Pierceton, who were being held in the county jail on a charge of adultery, appeared before Judge Bowser, waived arraignment and pleaded guilty to the charge. Mrs. Stevens was given a fine of $10 and costs which she paid. This fine was very light, considering the seriousness of the charge, but as her husband is a man of limited means and had agreed to pay the fine, the penalty was made as low as possible in order to allow her to return with the husband to the three children whom she had left. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have returned to their Illinois home.

DELPHOS HAS A WATER SCARE.

Delphos, Ohio, March 13. "Boil and filter water" is the advice given out in Delphos by Health Officer N. F. Braudage to all users of Delphos city water. The warning was issued as the result of a report received from Columbus, where several samples of the water were taken last week to be analyzed, which states that the water contained injurious chemicals. The city water here has been unfit for use for some time and it is believed the information received from Columbus will enable the city officials to ascertain the cause of the oily condition of the city water supply, but other than the water should not be used unless the foregoing precautions are taken, no public statement has been made.

NO FOOLING WITH COURT.

Bluffton, Ind., March 13. That a divorce cannot be had simply for the asking was emphasized in circuit court when Judge W. H. Eichhorn handed down his decision in the case of Emery Cotton against Mary Cotton in which the evidence was heard Wednesday. Judge Eichhorn refused the decree of divorce, and in explanation went into the case to some length, to show that there had not been evidence sufficient to warrant a decree on any of the grounds alleged. Cruel treatment was the principal allegation, but the evidence was explained as showing that the instances of domestic infelicities related showed comparatively trivial quarrels.

THREE CONVENTIONS ONE DAY.

Columbia City, Ind., March 13. April 16 will bring to Columbia City three democratic conventions. The Whitley-Noble judicial convention, in which Hon. LaKe H. Wrigley, of Albion, will be re-nominated for judge of the circuit without opposition. Ex-Senator Frank J. Heller, of this city, and Attorney Harry F. Helwig of Kendallville, will contest for the nomination for prosecuting attorney for the circuit. Mr. Helwig is now deputy prosecutor. At the same time the joint senatorial convention for Whitley and Huntington counties will be held. The nomination is conceded to Whitley county this time and M. B. Masten, of South Whitley, is so far the only candidate proposed.

ANTICIPATING TROUBLE.

Bluffton, Ind., March 13. An unusual case was filed in circuit court yesterday morning by Emma Meyer, who alleges that Nun McCullick or the children of Henry McCullick, will bring an action against her to set aside a deed to real estate. The complaint asks that the deposition of Henry McCullick be taken at once as he is 85 years old and in very feeble health. The affiant says the action against her will be postponed until Mr. McCullick's death. Judge Eichhorn ordered the deposition of Mr. McCullick taken at his home in Chester township on March 20 between the hours of 9 to 2 o'clock and this deposition will be filed in court and used in case the contemplated action is filed.

NO WORD FROM KNOWLTONS.

Bluffton, Ind., March 13. Dr. Earl Striggs states today that he and his mother are worried in not hearing from his sister, Mrs. Don Knowlton, who with her husband and their children were at Tampico, Mexico, when last they wrote to relatives here. That letter was dated December 15, and in order that it might get through to relatives here it was necessary for Mrs. Knowlton to give it to a young lady who was coming to the United States, and it was mailed at Evansville, Ind. While it is likely that the Knowltons are all right the relatives here naturally are worried in not having heard from them for almost three months.

BONFIRE OF POOL TABLES.

Warsaw, Ind., March 13. Frank Long, keeper of a poolroom in this town, has announced its purpose to make a complete destruction of the furnishings of his resort and will make a public bonfire of the property. This determination comes as the result of a big revival under the direction of Rev. Parks which has been in progress here and Long has felt, along with scores of others, the influence of the religious fervor. A year ago Long was convicted of selling liquor in illicit fashion and served a term in jail for the offense. He has conducted for years Claypool's only poolroom.

SLESSMAN IS EXONERATED.

Columbia City, Ind., March 13. That someone has been trying to bring Thomas Slessman, of this city, into trouble with the fish and game authorities of the state is disclosed by dismissal of the case against him on a charge of having fishnets in his possession. Deputy Game and Fish Warden Rodney D. Fleming, of Fort Wayne, has directed the dismissal of the suit against Slessman. It has been fairly ascertained that the illegal nets found on the Slessman premises were "planted" with a view to getting him into trouble.

DOMESTIC AFFAIR IS VENUED.

Columbia City, Ind., March 13. The suit of David M. Rinehart against George and Lorauna Cooper for $2,500 damages for the alienation of the affections of the plaintiff's wife has been venued. Rinehart avers that in 1907 he was married to Cassandra Zeigler and that following the marriage the defendants began to seduce his wife from him and finally succeeded. He says that the domestic voyage would have been over smooth seas but for the interference of the Coopers. Mrs. Cooper is the daughter and Mr. Cooper the son-in-law of Mrs. Rinehart.

THREE PAIRS IN ELOPEMENTS.

Hillsdale, Mich., March 13. Three northern Indiana couples eloped the same day to this city and were married. The couples were:

Carl M. Jamison, of Bluffton, Ind., and Miss Winnie Powell, of Monroeville, Ind., were made man and wife by Rev. C. S. Wheeler of the Methodist church at the parsonage.

Arthur J. Platt and Miss Matilda A. Kitchin, both of Wells county, Ind., were married by Justice Weaver.

Charles A. Ludwig and Miss Mildred M. Christman, both of Sheldon, Allen county, Ind., were married at the court house by Justice Weaver.

BRIDGE WAS NOT DYNAMITED.

Huntington, Ind., March 13.—Evidence on the Mt. Etna bridge, which was found to be damaged a few weeks ago, was heard by the county commissioners, the entire day being taken up in hearing the testimony of witnesses. No evidence to support the theory that dynamite had been used to wreck the concrete abutments was given, but it was shown that while making in the fills at the ends the cement had been cracked. The commissioners took the matter under advisement and will render a decision later.

ACTRESS SECURES DIVORCE.

Portland, Ind., March 13.—Elizabeth Meredith, an actress, was given a decree of divorce here from Mark A. Meredith, on the grounds of abandonment. They were married in the south a few years ago and the defendant left her within a few weeks after the ceremony was performed. He has since kept his whereabout a secret. She was prohibited from remarrying for a period of two years by the court.

MISS SHAFFER OUT OF HOSPITAL.

Kendallville, Ind., March 13.—Miss Lulu Shaffer, of Corunna, who has been recovering from a serious nervous breakdown was in the city yesterday en route home from Fort Wayne, where she had been in a hospital for treatment. She was still quite weak but is now on the road to recovery. She was accompanied by her father, George Shaffer.

"HIND SIGHT"

"I wish I had started a bank account years ago," said a small merchant.

"Ten years ago I paid a bill in cash. Two years later I had to pay the same bill again for I could not find the receipt. Had I had a bank account at the time I would have paid the bill with a check and then I would have had the check to show the bill had been paid."

Of course a man's hind sight is better than his foresight, but why not convert the hind sight of others into foresight for yourself?

This bank welcomes small accounts, for such today are the big accounts tomorrow.

W. H. LOWE DIES IN ST. PAUL

Many Years General Baggage Agent of Southern Pacific.

NEW CAR FOR J. J. TURNER

General Baggage Agent W. H. Lowe, of the Northern Pacific, died at 12 o'clock last night at his home in St. Paul, after an illness of several months. The deceased was the husband of a sister to District Passenger Agent Frank P. Parnin of the Nickel Plate, and news of the death was brought here by a telegraph this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Parnin will leave this evening for St. Paul to attend the funeral. Mr. Lowe was about fifty-two years old. He was a frequent visitor in Fort Wayne and had a pretty wide acquaintance in the city.

PENNSY WANTS ANOTHER LINE.

Negotiating for North and South Route Through Muncie.

(Muncie Star.)

A well founded rumor is in circulation that the Pennsylvania Railway company will soon begin the operation of a new division in which both Muncie and Newcastle will be vitally interested because of a new outlet, both to the north and to the south, which is a condition greatly to be desired by the company.

It is a well known fact that the Pennsylvania company last year constructed extensive sidings and switches at Fayne, the junction point of the Lake Erie and Western and the Pennsylvania lines, northwest of Newcastle. The company is at the present time negotiating for additional land at that point, presumably for the purpose of building storage tracks, a repair shop and possibly a roundhouse, for all three such institutions are badly needed now at that point.

When the Pennsylvania company acquired the piece of road between Converse and Muncie it gave the local territory direct communication to Chicago and points west, but there is no south or east connection out of Muncie.

More than a year ago surveys were made from Muncie to Hagerstown by the Pennsylvania company, with the idea of constructing a line from this city to Hagerstown and running from there to a point on the main line of the Pennsylvania over the White Water division of the Big Four to Cambridge City, and connecting there with the old J. M. & I., which enters Louisville, Ky. That plan, however, has evidently been abandoned. Now it is stated by a person who claims to be reliably informed that the Pennsylvania will seek or is already seeking a trackage agreement with the Lake Erie and Western, which now is independent of the New York Central system. Under the terms of such an agreement direct communication would be secured between Chicago and Louisville, Ky., by way of Muncie, over the L. E. & W. line and the Newcastle and the Rushville division of the L. E. & W. Such a thing is not an impossibility as it would do away with the dead end of the Pennsylvania in Muncie. Further than this it is said that such an agreement might be extended to Fort Wayne, thereby uniting the northwest and the southwest systems of the Pennsylvania.

NICKEL PLATE SUPERINTENDENTS WHO WILL EXCHANGE JURISDICTION.

E. J. PARRISH.

W. F. WATTERSON.

Wednesday, March 25, a transfer of jurisdiction involving two well known Nickel Plate officials will be made. On that date E. J. Parrish, superintendent of the Fort Wayne division, will assume that duty on the Buffalo division and William F. Watterson, who has filled that office for several years, will come here to assume charge of the Fort Wayne division. It is understood that the exchange of territory is made because the men affected by it want it, and viewed in that light it is a promotion for them.

Mr. Parrish came here last September to succeed S. K. Blair, who was promoted to special agent. He was previously the superintendent of telegraph, with headquarters in Cleveland. Mr. Parrish has been with the company about twenty-nine years, commencing in a minor position and working his way upwards, serving in various capacities, including trainmaster of the Eastern division several years. He is better acquainted on that division than on the western divisions and it was this condition which probably made the transfer welcome to him, though he is admired by all his acquaintances in Fort Wayne. Mrs. Parrish is particularly well pleased with Fort Wayne and her acquaintances and will leave the city with much regret.

Mr. Watterson is a former Ft. Wayne resident and is so well known here that anything that might be said in this connection would probably be superfluous. He began railroad work as a brakeman and later was a conductor, a trainmaster and a division superintendent, succeeding C. D. Corham at Buffalo in the latter position about six years ago.

FURNITURE HAS BEEN INSTALLED.

The furniture for the new Wabash station, so long delayed, arrived at noon yesterday and has been installed. It is of the latest pattern for depot service, is ample in capacity and adds greatly to the pleasing appearance of the commodious waiting room. As previously stated, the company will open the new station for business Sunday, when Fort Wayne people will be given opportunity to see the handsome new building and its appurtenances, which go to make up a first-class railway depot.

MRS. SWAP IS RECOVERING.

Mrs. Swap, wife of Nickel Plate Agent F. L. Swap, of New Haven, is recovering from a surgical operation for the removal of her appendix and two tumors, which a week ago threatened to prove fatal. She is doing so well that the attendants at her bedside believe there is far prospects for speedy recovery. The patient is a sister to Mrs. E. J. Parrish.

NEW CAR FOR MR. TURNER.

All steel private car No. 7510, built at the Pullman works for First Vice President J. J. Turner, of the Pennsylvania, passed through the city on train 10, en route to Pittsburg, yesterday. This is one of the best and most elegant cars of its kind turned out of the Pullman works.

FATHER-IN-LAW DEAD.

A. P. Richardson, a clerk in the Pennsylvania motive power office, and Mrs. Richardson left last night for Wellsville, O., where her father, Mr. Russell, died yesterday. The deceased was quite well known in his native town and also had a number of acquaintances in Fort Wayne, acquired through visits to his daughter.

TO HOT SPRINGS FOR MONTH.

Engineer and Mrs. W. H. Gates are at Hot Springs where she will take treatment at the sanitarium. Mrs Gates has been in poor health for a number of months. During Engineer Gates' absence his duties on Pennsylvania trains 18 and 17 will be taken care of by Engineer H. E. Wagner.

HAND CUT AND BRUISED.

Gus Meyers, a machinist in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, sustained painful injuries to one of his hands yesterday. While at work a locomotive eccentric fell on the member, bruising and cutting the flesh.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Andy Muldary, G. R. & I. conductor, is sick and off duty.

James E. Young, Pennsylvania machinist, has recovered from his illness.

S. W. Knapp, who had been sick a few days, reported for duty at the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

Boilermaker F. I. Brown has recovered from an illness and resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

W. J. Newman, a Pennsylvania dispatcher, has returned from Ohio, where he was visiting his mother, who is sick.

Boilermaker W. C. Teagarden is kept from his work in the Pennsylvania shops by the serious illness of his mother.

John Rupp, E. W. Hans, J. F. Szink, J. C. Gnau, C. P. Conrad and L. D. Haslup, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

William H. Schaffer, a laborer in the Pennsylvania machine shop, is off duty nursing a crushed finger. A heavy metal shell rolled upon the digit.

Henry Lapp and Owen Farnan go to Chicago tomorrow and Robert Cran goes to Linn for a Sunday visit. They are Pennsylvania machinists.

C. Hess, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, was off duty today on account of business at the courts. His house was robbed last night.

Herman Kircher, chief clerk in the office of Division Engineer Guy Scott, of the Pennsylvania, is out of the city, enjoying a vacation visit with friends.

Blacksmith H. E. Krall, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of the illness of Mrs. Krall, who has been sick for some time, though not seriously until the past few days.

Engineer Joseph Bracht, of the Nickel Plate, has returned from Hot Springs, where he took treatment for rheumatism several weeks. He will not resume work on the road until the weather improves.

F. W. Hall, representing the New York Central road, and A. B. Criswell, representing the Baltimore and Ohio, were here yesterday inspecting car wheels for their respective companies. Each inspected 100 wheels.

O. E. Cunningham is doing the railroad editorial work on the News pending the illness of Carl Detzer, who suffers from a severe attack of tonsilitis. Mr. Cunningham was a clerk in the Pennsylvania motive power office several years.

Local Freight Conductor Charles Lonergan, of the G. R. & I., is still unable to leave the house, though there is some improvement in his condition. Mr. Lonergan suffers from rheumatism, with which he was attacked February 5.

Herman Lankenau sent a box of cigars to his associates in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning, accompanied by the information that he is papa to a bouncing baby boy. The little one arrived at the Lenkenau home yesterday and weighs eight pounds.

Bellevue Gazette: "Traffic was blocked on the Fort Wayne division of the Nickel Plate and the relief train from this city was called out this morning when a car in the second section of train No. 52 became derailed at Millers City. Nickel Plate passenger train No. 6, due here at 6:10 a. m., was held behind the wreck and failed to reach here until two hours after schedule time."

UNCLE EPH REMARKS:

"The collapse of the Quebec bridge under the Laurier government," is a pleasantly ambiguous phrase from a newspaper published in Canada, where the party to which one does not belong is invariably blamed for any flaw or misfortune in the public service.

BUYS DAD DRINK; OFFERS COP ONE

Then Young Ruffing Pushed Himself Into Macing and Arrest.

NEWS OF THE POLICE

Officer Harris went into the Siniff saloon, 1303 Eliza street, last night to conduct an inquiry concerning some boys who had brewed a souse all round and A. C. Ruffing, a youth of gigantic stature, and powerful physique invited the officer to have a drink. Young Ruffing was just buying a mug of lager for himself and another for his undersized and raggedy dad, Martin Ruffing. Young Ruffing insolently asked the officer to join him in a "scuttle o' suds" and called the minion of the law a double blanked liar when he declined with the statement that he did not drink. Young Ruffing was feeling his oats and likewise his hops and he cut loose a further line of talk that no able-bodied and self-respecting man, officer or just a plain wayfarer, would stand for. He put Ruffing under arrest and was stoutly resisted by the young giant, who tried to break the officer's thumb. Harris cut loose with his mace, which explains why Ruffing appeared this morning in court with his head swathed like a fresh baby. Father Ruffing then started to swing the heavy beer glass into action against the officer, but was restrained by the proprietor of the saloon. The Ruffings were carted to the police station and put up cash bail for appearance this morning. Judge Kerr fined the younger man $5 and costs on a drunk charge and the elder one $10 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Just Plain Rough House.

Jim Carmody and Jim Wier stretched their worthless hides with an overload of barrel-house booze and then went into the Kelly saloon on Calhoun street, where they started a rough house. When the frolic became too uproarious for even Mr. Kelly's place the twain were skidded to the street, where they started to perform al fresco. Then the hoodlum cart whiffed up and they were whisked neatly away to the city donjonkeep. This morning Judge Kerr smiled a smile that was childlike and bland and purred a nice little homily on the evils of overdoing the drink habit, it began to look soft for the brace of hoodlums. "Twenty dollars and costs" said the court just like that and Jim and James were led away a most crestfallen pair of toughs.

Youthful Thief is Held.

Fred Knapp, aged 17, was held under bond this morning on a charge of entering a house to commit a felony. He has confessed that three times he went into the residence of Charles Hess, 2346 Gay street. Two months ago he broke in and stole a savings bank containing $11. A fortnight since he carried away another bank containing 85 cents and yesterday rummaged the dwelling for a dozen and a half of eggs. He was arrested last night by Detective Sergeants Joe Brennen and Mart Rundell.

Other City Court Cases.

Richard Levington, a drunk who went down and out on the street, was continued until tomorrow under $25 bond.

Frank Callahan promised to keep sober and get away from town and was released.

James Higgins got a regular old fashioned stew and took it over to Melita street and went to bed on the sidewalk.

Dick Harrison went down and out on the sidewalk at the corner of Calhoun and Railroad streets and was giving a diverting imitation of deep water swimming when an officer hooked him. He got eleven days. He said he was a cook in Huntington and badly needed there.

Frank Kendrican, whose noisy souse interrupted the court proceedings yesterday morning, tried to talk the court into an amiable frame of mind concerning the incident, but got fifteen days.

John Smith, a vag, was turned loose and told to find work or get away from the city.

Women's Hats for Spring

Have New Styles Featured Here

HARDLY a trace of former shapes remains. The manner of wearing the hat, slanting forward instead of being snugly pulled down at the back, has everything to do with the style and character of the hat. Watteau Paintings, an early eighteenth century artist, have had much influence on the styles of this season. In addition a variety of attractive shapes, new this season, are on display.

In trimmings the change is as radical as in shapes. Flowers easily take precedence—in a wonderful profusion of colors. The Hats are mainly dark—to set off the wonderful contrast in colors.

You will find many variations and combinations of these three points—the tilt, flower trimmings, and brilliant colorings,

All of them Attractive, New, and the Final Word in Styles

The narrow brim, high crown sailor, with a dainty feather trim (like cut) is another interesting model—like you to see them. And the price range is wide enough to meet all ideas as to expenditure.

LAST NIGHT FOR PURE FOOD SHOW

Spirited Balloting Reported in Grand Final Baby Contest.

TAKE DOWN EXHIBITS

The passing of the pure food show this evening at Princess rink brings to a close one of the most remarkable expositions ever held in Fort Wayne, and one of the largest and best attended events of its kind in the state of Indiana. In point of attendance and in the showing of sustained interest it has exceeded any amusement enterprise of like character. No show of this kind has ever before proved so popular in any city in the state and no show has ever before been so greatly fortified with educational features and the retail grocers' association under, whose auspices the exhibition was staged, has been honored and showered with glory by its success.

Many of the grand awards offered by the exhibitors will be distributed this evening and the committee in charge has every reason to expect a large attendance.

The grand prize baby contest is being held this afternoon and each of the infants who carried away honors in the daily shows ever since the exhibition opened are being voted upon by friends, relatives and admirers and it is said that the balloting is spirited and interesting.

The Twin Show.

The twin baby show yesterday made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in number of entries, and the contest was one of the closest on record. Friends and admirers of the four splendid pairs of babies worked hard and unceasingly for their favorites, and the floor of the rink resembled in some aspects an old time convention, many of which have been staged there.

There was one remarkable difference however. This was a suffrage convention—no man was allowed to vote and no man's influence was sought. The women handled the situation just like politicians to the manor born, and if they lacked knowledge of caucus procedure it was well covered up by their zeal.

Julia and Frederick Scheffian, of 1021 Columbia avenue, were the choice for first prize, Eugene and Jerone Alter, 1144 Hanna street, second, and Chester and Lester Brouwer, 2519 Hanna street, third. Hanna street seems to have broken into the win column several times in the various contests, here is no talk of an attempt to corner the pretty babies, however.

We have purchased twelve cases of children's hose to sell at 10c that is the best thing we have ever seen. Come and send your friends here for the children's hose.

Don't Curb the Boy's Shanty Spirit, She Says

Toledo, O., March 13.—"The boy who wants to live in a cave isn't necessarily a bad boy. To my way of thinking, he's just a natural, healthy sort of a boy," says Mrs. Clara M. Miller, county jail matron at Toledo, O. "Mothers should not curb that 'shanty' spirit in their boys, but let the boys build the 'shanty' in the back yard under 'mother's' eye."

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

PLANT INVENTOR RIVALS BURBANK WITH CREATIONS GROWN ON CITY LOTS.

Wonder-Worker George B. Frank in his garden in San Diego showing his new tomato creation and also a picture of the spineless cucumber, which is one of his noteworthy plant inventions.

San Diego, Cal., March 13.—There may be only one Luther Burbank, but there in at least another plant wizard, as results recently achieved by George B. Frank of this city show. In a garden covering a few city lots this man is conducting experiments, the result of which will be invaluable to all vegetable producers and consumers. Here are some of his recent creations:

1. A bean which yields almost twice as much as an ordinary bean, obtained by crossing a climber and another species, eliminating some of the climber's peculiarities—including the climbing.

2. A cucumber which is spineless and which, instead of having green ends, is almost entirely solid. The seed spaces are small and the cucumber very large and crisp, and grows rapidly.

3. A large tomato which is almost all meat. Frank crossed four times between a Stone tomato and a "beefsteak" tomato to get this result. Also, he recrossed with the Mexican bitter love apple to take all the poisonous tendencies out of the vegetable.

4. Three distinct and new kinds of lettuce, especially designed for distinctive salads. One is a crushed strawberry color and one is blotched with rose colors. Another is pure green. All are heavy producers and very crisp and pleasant to the taste.

Frank's work has attracted wide attention and he has received many offers to leave his little garden on the city lots and work on a much larger scale.

"I don't want to make a lot of money out of my creations," he said. "All I want is a decent living. The people ought to share in the benefits of my plant inventions."

Experts say the eggplant, a vegetable of the deadly nightshade family contains poison and at present Frank is working to get the poison out. To do it he is crossing the eggplant with the sweet yellow tomato and says that the result is already assured.

This wonder-workers's results in crossing vegetables are obtained by scientific mixing pollens when the plants are in bloom. He has also installed a number of devices for forcing plants to maturity and for testing and strengthening soils.

INDIAN LOOKS ON AS LEG'S CUT OFF

Camp Cook Was Surgeon for Brave Who Had Been Injured

IN A LOGDING CAMP

Bangor, March 13.—A man who had walked twenty miles through the woods to reach the railroad on his way to Bangor to have an aching tooth treated, said that he had suffered for eight days with the pain and, although he had not eaten a square meal nor slept an entire night in that time, had kept on at work.

"You've got a good nerve," remarked a logger on the train going back, but the fellow who had been relieved of the bad tooth grinned and replied:

"Huh! That's nothing. How'd you like to be fifty miles in the woods with a broken leg or something like that?"

Every man in the group of loggers had a story to tell, but the tale of suffering that aroused most interest was related by a gray-haired camp boss, who told of an Indian of the Penobscot tribe whose leg had been crushed by a falling tree, away up north beyond Moosehead lake. It was impossible to bring the man out of the woods, for the nearest settlement was more than fifty miles away, and to wait for a doctor to come in was out of the question the poor fellow would die long before any surgical aid could be had.

It was imperative that the limb be amputated at once as the only chance to save the man's life, and the camp cook was the nearest to a surgeon of any in the crew.

Camp Cook Gets the Meat Saw.

This cook was a man of great nerve and some rude skill in such cases, and so he brought out his butcher knife and meat saw, some white linen thread and a common needle, while the camp boss, the only man in camp who owned white shirts, tore up two or three of those garments for bandages.

A tin dipperful of whisky was the best at hand for an anaesthetic, and this the Indian gulped down. Then the cook set to work with his rude tools and amputated the crushed leg, half way between the knee and the hip. All during the frightful painful process the Indian watched the amateur surgeon, the pupils of his little beadlike black eyes narrowing down to pin points as the work progressed and the pain increased, but never once did he utter a cry or a groan. He merely set his teeth hard and clenched his fists and watched. When it was all over and the last stitch had been taken in the skin gathered up about the stump, the stoical patient fainted. At first it was thought that he might recover, but the nervous shock was too great, and on the third day he died.

Many Hurt By Falling Trees.

It is no uncommon thing for a leg or an arm to be broken by a falling tree in the logging woods, and only recently a man was caught under a falling spruce and so injured about the back that he was paralyzed from the waist down. But in these days the railroads are nearer to the camps and better means are provided to care for the injured.

Many are brought out of the woods on stretchers constructed expressly for the purpose, and there are hospitals at Greenville and Old Town, where woodsmen are treated by special arrangement, they paying a small monthly fee for the service. Camps now are provided with medicine chests and first aid equipment, and most of the camp bosses have a rudimentary knowledge of the uses of common remedies.

Toothache is the most common complaint and causes the most suffering. An aching tooth can be jerked out by most any camp boss, if there is enough of the tooth to get hold of with a loop of tarred rope or rude pincers, but ulcerated teeth are common, when the crown is gone and the roots are beyond an amateur dentist's reach. Then the logger must grin and bear it, or make a long hike to civilization.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

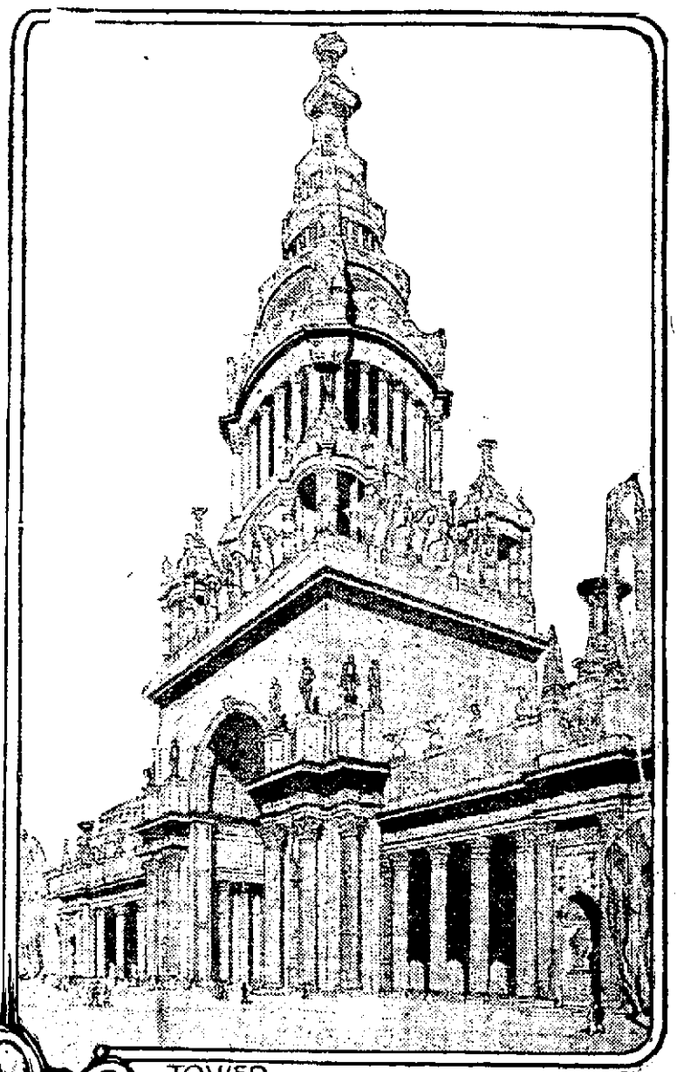
LIKE ENCHANTED CITY PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION RISES ON THE SHORES OF SAN FRANCISCO BAY.

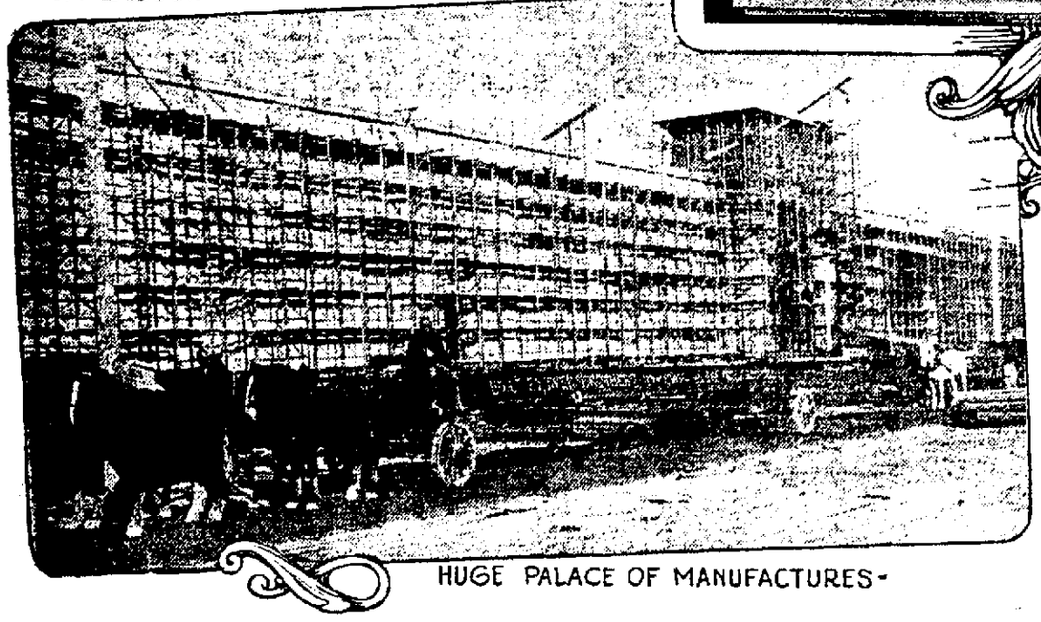
Thousands of Workmen Rushing to Completion the Vast Exposition City Where Will Meet In 1915 Conclave of Nations Unrivaled In History---Exposition Opens February 20, 1915---Forty-two of the World's Great Nations Have Accepted Invitation to Participate; Present Progress Gives Forecast of Marvel Exhibition as It Will Appear on Opening Day.

GREAT PALACE OF EDUCATION AS SEEN FROM LAGOON—

"THE NATIONS OF THE WEST"



TOWER OF JEWELS



HUGE PALACE OF MANUFACTURES—

PART OF EXPOSITION SITE PHOTOGRAPHED FROM AN AEROPLANE—

Photograph Copyright, 1914, by Panama-Pacific International Exposition Co.

THE view of a part of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition site was taken from an aeroplane at a height of 1,000 feet. In the foreground is seen a huge lagoon, which will lie before the Palace of Fine Arts. Next come eight of the vast main exhibit palaces, terminated by the colossal Palace of Machinery, which is 967 feet long, 367 feet wide and 136 feet high. The dome of the huge Palace of Education in the foreground on the right rises to a height of 160 feet. In the center of the photograph is seen a great lagoon, marking the Court of the Universe. The main exhibit palaces will be the loftiest and most impressive exposition structures ever built, and their extraordinary grouping about great courts will give an effect of singular massiveness and grandeur, seeming from afar a single vast structure. On the right of the photograph may be seen the hills of San Francisco. The island in the top center is Goat Island, lying between San Francisco and Berkeley. One of the magnificent architectural effects of the Exposition is the huge Tower of Jewels, 430 feet in height, which will mark the south gateway to the Court of the Universe. The archway in the center of the tower is 125 feet high.

"WE'LL BE READY."

By CHARLES C. MOORE, President of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

THE progress of the physical side of the Exposition work during the past year enables me to repeat with assurance the promise originally made two years ago when I said that the Panama-Pacific International Exposition would be ready when its gates opened on Feb. 20, 1915.

All construction work is fully up to schedule, and this schedule calls for the completion of the Exhibit Palaces by July 1, 1914. One of them, the great Machinery Palace, is practically completed now, several more will be finished in April or May and all will be ready for the installation of exhibits by July 1.

Very active work has begun in the Concessions District on the many beautiful and elaborate structures to be erected by concessionaires to house their attractions. All these men are under rigid contract and bond to have their projects in complete working order on the opening day.

Plans for the numerous State Buildings and for the Pavilions of foreign nations are now being submitted and approved in rapid frequency, and while the Exposition itself has no direct control over the erection of these buildings, every influence that it may exert to expedite their completion will be exerted, and I apprehend no serious delays in this part of the site.

More than 60,000 manufacturers from all parts of the world have made application for exhibit space; in fact, the total space in our Exhibit Palaces has already been overapplied for. The work of selection of representative exhibits and the allotment of space will shortly be taken up, and the installation of exhibits will begin about July 1, thus giving exhibitors nearly nine months to get ready. Extraordinary care has been taken to give exhibitors facilities for the rapid handling of their goods, and there is no reason why all the exhibits should not be completely arranged weeks before the gates are opened.

These exhibits will make a representation of human achievement in the arts, sciences and industries which, I believe, has never been surpassed, even if equaled.

We have had over 7,000 applications for concessions, and those that have been given space are on the highest plane as regards novelty, interest and attraction. Our amusement district will be pleasantly remembered for years after the Exposition closes.

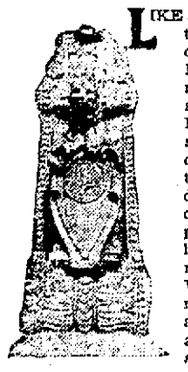
Two hundred and six national and international congresses have already voted to meet in San Francisco during 1915, and it is probable that the number of organized bodies which will assemble in 1915 in San Francisco will be fully 500.

The plans for a great naval pageant are progressing well, and from assurances already received I am justified in believing that there will be few, if any, nations possessing navies that will be unrepresented in the great fleet which will assemble at Hampton Roads, sail through the Panama Canal and through the Golden Gate to take part in our opening exercises.

Detachments from the armies of many nations will gather in the Exposition grounds during 1915 and in friendly rivalry will illustrate their proficiency in feats of arms.

The vast preliminary work of creating a great Universal Exposition is complete. The great responsibility confided by the Government of the United States to the people of California is being successfully executed.

And as the Exposition Palaces arise and the physical shell for this greatest of educative celebrations assumes that beauty in which the genius of master artists and architects conceived it, the people of America may rest assured that their pride and patriotism will find expression in a celebration that in its high educational value, in its ethical influence and in its splendor will worthily celebrate the supreme triumph of mankind in the Panama Canal.



SEDIMENT CARTOUCHE, PALACE OF VARIED INDUSTRIES.

LIKE an enchanted city, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has risen from the shores of San Francisco Bay in so short a space of time that even to those who have daily watched the construction its progress seems little short of marvelous. Where but little more than a year ago existed but a barren heap of sand dunes and a partly sunken salt marsh, today nine great main exhibit palaces partially or wholly completed stand majestically in a setting of a beautiful tropical garden.

Although the formal opening of the Exposition will not be celebrated until Feb. 20, 1915, the Exposition is now more than half completed and every detail will be perfected before December of this year. It is absolutely certain that there will be no unfinished part of the Exposition on the opening day. An army of 4,000 men is working on the palaces, and of the eleven main buildings nine are more than 60 per cent completed.

Beachey Flew Through It.

The Palace of Machinery, the largest wooden building ever erected, was completed on Jan. 1, just one year after the construction work had been started. It was in this immense structure that Lincoln Beachey successfully made his aeroplane flight, the 967 feet length of the central aisle, at a speed of seventy miles an hour, establishing a record for the first indoor aeroplane flight ever attempted. The composition of the palace is classic, the Roman predominating, with a touch of the Greek refining influence plainly shown, and the treatment is somewhat modern and expressive of machinery and invention. Immensity is the keynote of the structure, and its principal architectural feature consists of three main naves and a secondary bay on either side.

Eight Palaces Grouped.

To the west of the Palace of Machinery are the eight palaces composing the main group. Divided as they are by great courts, and being uniform in height and general architectural composition, they seem to be under one roof. They range in degrees of percentage completion as follows: Palace of Education 95 per cent, Food Products 80 per cent, Agriculture 70 per cent, Mines and Metallurgy 65 per cent, Varied Industries 65 per cent, Liberal Arts 60 per cent, Transportation 50 per cent.

The Palace of Fine Arts will house all of the great art exhibits of the Exposition, included in which are some of the principal art treasures of Europe, which will for the first time have been taken from the private and national galleries of the continent and exhibited at an exposition. This building is nearing completion and will be ready to receive the exhibits by December.

The Palace of Horticulture, which is being constructed almost entirely of glass with a dome 150 feet high and 100 feet in diameter, has its frame in place, and the setting of the crystal facades will soon commence.

Wonderful Tropical Gardens.

The greatest progress has been made in the construction of the gardens, however. When it is considered that but a little more than a year ago the site of the Exposition was impossible from the viewpoint of a landscape gardener, being composed of sand and salt, the wonderful tropical gardens which exist at present seem remarkable.

Millions of cubic yards of sand were pumped from the bay on to the site, and upon this base 40,000 cubic yards of rich soil was spread. Twenty-five thousand of these yards were dredged from the Sacramento river bed at a point seventy miles distant.

Many millions of rare plants and trees and shrubs were collected by expert gardeners from all parts of the world and brought to the Exposition, where they were planted in nurseries, lath houses and greenhouses, later to be transplanted on the site proper. Two hundred of the palms which are now growing cost more than $100 each. Trees were brought from India, Africa, Australia, Central and South America and the Philippine Islands. Many of these were hundreds of years old, and a special system had to be devised to successfully transplant them.

The Exposition, as a whole, has been treated as if it were in reality a huge stage, with the palaces and trees and flowers mere pieces of painted scenery. To carry out this idea of a stage farther a primal principle of stagecraft has been introduced—the sources of light will at all times be hidden from the spectators.

By the flood lighting system at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition high lights will be thrown into relief and the shadows accentuated by means of hidden purplish dipped lamps, which will throw heavy shadows where required.

A spectacular feature of the illumination will be the scintillator—a battery of forty-eight thirty-six-inch searchlight projectors screened by glass slides of every color in the spectrum. This battery will play a light symphony, entitled "The Dance of the Light God," upon the fog banks which roll through the Golden Gate every night. Great steam pipes dotted with perforations will be arranged in certain set forms, and through these steam under high pressure will be forced to a height of 300 feet in the shape of genii, fairies, demons, flowers, plumes and battleships. The beams from the scintillator will cause the gigantic shapes to assume form, waver and dissolve in the darkness above, presenting a weird and beautiful effect.

The Tower of Jewels.

To augment the effect of an actual fairyland, hundreds of thousands of "jewels" will be suspended from the important architectural points of the palaces, and upon these the rays from 200 minor searchlights will constantly play. The jewels are handmade and hand polished in Austria, with an exceptionally hard glass as a base, and will be suspended in such a manner that the vibration from the buildings will be sufficient to make them sway and quiver. The Tower of Jewels, which is to cost $441,000, will be completely covered with them.

THE EXPOSITION AT A GLANCE

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition will open on Feb. 20, 1915, and close Dec. 4, 1915.

A composite fleet of the warships of the world's navies, surpassing every maritime spectacle of history, will assemble in San Francisco harbor shortly after the formal opening of the Exposition.

The Exposition grounds lie within the city limits of San Francisco, on the shores of San Francisco harbor, and are just inside its famous Golden Gate entrance from the Pacific ocean. They are reached from the center of San Francisco in twenty-five minutes.

The area of the grounds is equal to the combined areas of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago and the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo. The Exposition palaces are the loftiest exposition buildings ever erected, rising 135, 160, 185, 270, 350 and 430 feet.

Thirty-two foreign powers have accepted the invitation of the United States to participate in the Exposition.

The displays from South America will be more elaborate than any ever shown outside that continent.

The most notable loan collection of the paintings of the old masters ever shown in America will be exhibited from European galleries.

Hundreds of great conventions and congresses whose members live in all parts of the world will meet in San Francisco next year.

Song festivals, international military meets, yacht and motorboat races and international aviation meets are among the spectacular events scheduled. Two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars will be given in the largest stakes ever offered in a harness meet; even more will be awarded in live stock premiums.

The most famous architects in the United States worked together to produce the vast Exposition City, and the main exhibit palaces are grouped to form a single stupendous design—a vast city of palaces surmounted by huge domes and towers and interspersed with great open courts.

Hundreds of thousands of rare trees, shrubs and plants are being set out upon the Exposition grounds. In the collection are exquisite tree ferns introduced from Australia.

The building of the Exposition has proceeded with prodigious rapidity. This will be the first great American exposition to celebrate a present day achievement—the building of the Panama canal. All exhibits entered for commercial award will be of contemporaneous manufacture and will be shown in action whenever practicable.

Visitors in 1915 will view a perfected spectacle, with the installation of every exhibit complete.

LEGAL NOTICE—PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that a petition for a stone road in Pleasant township was filed in the Auditor's office of Allen County, Indiana, on the 11th day of March, 1914, and the same will be presented to the Board of Commissioners of Allen County, Indiana, on the 8th day of April, 1914, for a hearing.
Which petition is as follows:
State of Indiana, Allen County, ss:
Before the Board of Commissioners.
To the Honorable Board of Commissioners of the County of Allen, State of Indiana:
The undersigned petitioners show to your Honorable Board that this petition is signed by at least fifty (50) freeholders and voters of Pleasant Township, Allen County, Indiana.
That there is an existing public highway in said township described as follows:
Commencing at the northeast corner of Section sixteen (16) in said township, where said highway connects with the Bluffton road, running thence west along the north line of Sections sixteen (16) seventeen (17) and eighteen (18), to a point about thirty-five (35) rods east of the northwest corner of said section eighteen (18), and terminating at said point in the Indianapolis road.
Your petitioners respectfully petition that said highway be improved by grading, draining and paving the same with stone, as follows, to-wit:
That said highway be opened and improved to the width of thirty (30) feet; that the grade thereof be constructed to the width of eighteen (18) feet; that there be placed thereon broken stone, to be placed between boards (on (16) feet apart, and said boards to be eight (8) inches high, and the stone to be eleven (11) inches deep in center and placed thereon so as to form a uniform curve from the top edge of said boards to the center of said roadbed; that all necessary drains and side-drains, bridges and culverts and sewer tiles therein be so constructed as to make said highway a complete stone road.
Your petitioners further show that said above described highway connects at its east end with the Bluffton road, which is a county highway, and has been improved by stone placed thereon, and is a free stone road and connects at its west end with said Indianapolis road, which has heretofore been ordered improved by paving the same with stone, and said Indianapolis road at the termination of the proposed improvement is now a free gravel road.
That said highway herein proposed to be improved is less than three (3) miles in length and is a route for the United States mail.
Your petitioners further show that it will be to the interest of all persons concerned in the establishment of said improvement that the same be ordered paid for by bonds to be issued as required by law, payable in not to exceed ten (10) years, and in such denominations as may be fixed by the Board of Commissioners. Your petitioners further represent that said highway herein proposed to be improved is less than three (3) miles in length and that the improvement herein petitioned for will be of public utility.
Your petitioners therefore pray for the location and improvement of said highway by paving the same with stone, in all things in accordance with the laws of the State of Indiana relating to stone or macadam roads three (3) miles or less in length.

Brushes

You'll need one or more this spring, for painting, varnishing or staining. We have all styles from the smallest to the fattest, at least one to meet every requirement; and as for prices, ours are the lowest because we buy direct from the manufacturer and take the usual middleman's profit off the price.

To Clean Floors

and keep them in perfect condition there is nothing that quite comes up to

JOHNSON'S KLEEN FLOOR.

Very simple to use. It removes all spots, stains, discolorations, water marks, etc., leaving the wood bright and clean. Adapted for cleaning ALL floors—whether finished with wax, shellac, varnish, oils, or any other preparation. Comes in quarts, pints, and half pints.

Beri Olive Oil

Of all Olive Oils, none is quite so pure as that made of olives from southern France. Such is Beri Olive Oil. Its "staying" qualities are great, as it will not become rancid.
